Extra Police To Guard Lindberghs At British Port

But After Aviator and Family Voyaging From U.S. Land They Will Be Given Only Ordinary Protection, Say Authorities, Who Expect No Kidnappers or Other Outlaws Will Molest Them in United Kingdom

Associated Press

London, Dec. 24.—British authorities disclosed to-day that extra police would patrol the docks at Liverpool when Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrive from the United States, seeking sanctuary from threats of kidnapping their small son Jon.

Otherwise, officials said, the Lindberghs would be assured the same protection by the nation's helmeted and blue-jacketed bobbies and the plainclothesmen as any other visitors to England.

The extra guard to be turned out at Liverpool will be only a small one, authorities asserted, demonstrating that British police have not the slightest fear that kidnappers, or any other outside the law, will attempt to molest the Lindberghs.

CRANK LETTERS

Chicago, Dec. 24 (Associated Press).—Hi study of "crank letters," said Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, director of the Cook County (Chicago) Behavior Clinic to-day, convinced him that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had acted wisely.

A very real danger lies behind anonymous threats such as those which impelled the famous aviator to leave the United States, the psychologist said in an interview.

HOME IN WALES

New York, Dec. 24 (Associated Press)—The home of Aubrey Neil Morgan near Cardiff, Wales, is a likely refuge for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, his wife and their three-year-old son, Jon when the family reaches England.

Mr. Morgan was the husband of Mrs. Lindbergh's sister, Elizabeth,

A. Hounie, Waiter, Says Life Menaced as Thelma Todd Death Investigated

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Dec. 24. — Alexander Hounie, head waiter at the restaurant where Thelma Todd attended her last Hollywood party, to-day told police threats against his life had been renewed.

Hounie declared he had received a telephone call yesterday evening saying he would be killed "unless you stay out of that Thelma Todd case."

Last week, in the midst of police investigation into the death of the blonde comedienne, Hounie said he had received a threatening post card and was later warned by two men in an automobile.

Police radio cars were sent to guard Hounie's home.

Hounie's revelation of new threats came as the grand jury started its second day of inquiry aimed at determining whether the actress was murdered.

STRUCK IN FACE

Another threat apparently arising out of the Todd case was also reported to police. Jerry Cummings, proprietor of a Christmas tree lot in Santa Monica, asserted a man had approached him on his lot and said:

"Well, you've got a good memory on the Todd case, but don't stretch it too far. There's been a lot of talking about it and if I were you I

Chinese Premier Ready To Accept Japanese Plans

Canadian Press from Havas

Tokio, Dec. 24.—Premier Chiang Kai-shek has officially assured Japan of Chinese readiness to accept the proposals put forward by Foreign Minister Hirota for improving Sino-Japanese relations, it was understood here to-day.

Hirota was said to have informed the cabinet to this effect at its meeting to-day.

The proposals accepted by Chiang call for recognition by China of Manchukuo, Sino-Japanese-Manchukuan co-operation in political, economic and cultural matters, and a joint alliance against the Soviet Union and Communism in China.

TOWNS EVACUATED

Peiping, Dec. 24.—Chinese troops to-day evacuated the towns of Changtu and Changpei in central Chahar, according to reports from Kalgan.

Changpei, located thirty miles from Kalgan, was immediately occupied by Mongol troops, who recently arrived in this region from the Jehol border and who are part of the Mancukuan army.

THREE FOREIGNERS INJURED

Canadian Press from Havas

Shanghai, Dec. 24.—Three foreign police officers were injured, one of them seriously, when they clashed in the International Settlement to-day with Chinese students demonstrating against the North China autonomy movement.

Many students suffered injuries and a number were arrested by Chinese police when they stormed the North Railroad Station.

Chinese reports from Hankow said the Japanese landed marines to-day and patrolled the streets with machine guns and light field pieces.

Mayor Explains Case and Hopes For Settlement of Longshore Question

Following a meeting with two representatives of the old longshoremen's union which went on sympathy strike with Vancouver early in the summer, Mayor David Leeming to-day reported the city could take no steps to smooth out troubles reported between old and new unions at present.

The matter became more prominent to-day with the announcement the American Mail Line ships might drop Victoria as a port of call unless some settlement were reached whereby those ships could be loaded or unloaded here.

On the last visit of an outgoing ship, outbound cargo was left on the docks here when members of the ship's crew stated they would not let strike-breaking longshoremen load it.

Mayor Leeming explained the complexities of the question to-day. He stated members of the old longshore union, which went on strike, had come to him with a statement officials on the wharf had refused to let members of their group work a ship.

On the other hand, the mayor stated, he had been informed the crew of the American Mail Line ships had refused to let the strike-breaking longshoremen handle the cargo and it had been left on the dock.

As Delegates Pause For Christmas Eyes Are On Far East As Well As Africa

League Will Face Difficult Problems When Brief Holiday Season Ended; Question of Oil Sanctions Against Italy Must Be Decided; Europe at Crossroads, Says Rome Paper; Across Asia, Outer Mongolian-Manchukuan-Japanese Tension Grows

Canadian Press

Geneva, Dec. 24.—Christmas Eve, and the meeting place of the nations was stilled to-night, but League officials were not permitted to forget the unsteady pulse of world affairs.

With delegates returned to their homes for the holiday season, Geneva watched developments in London and Rome, Ethiopia and the Far East, where future problems of the League Council and assembly are in the making.

From London it was reported military and naval conversations between France and Britain, relating to the danger of an outbreak in the Mediterranean, have been "satisfactory." Britain and France are disturbed by the possibility the application of oil sanctions against Italy would lead to violent retaliation.

Oil sanctions have already been accepted in principle by the League Committee of Eighteen. The holiday period delays consideration of an effective date for a few weeks, but in the near future the League will have to go further—or withdraw from the position adopted in November. It is believed here the appointment of Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden as the new British Foreign Secretary means Britain will continue to advocate steady economic pressure on the nation named by the League as the aggressor in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

SHOPPING IN ROME

Members of the League staff who guide the enforcement of existing sanctions against Italy learned that Christmas shoppers in Rome are rigorously observing the "buy Italian" edict—Italy's answer to a boycott that is almost world-wide.

At the same time more gravity is recognized in the militant tone of the Italian press.

RAINY SEASON FACTOR

A question of prime importance in Geneva is whether sanctions will help to delay the slow Italian advance in Ethiopia. The impression grows that the invading forces cannot reach

QUEBEC MINERS BACK AT WORK

Asbestos Staffs Resume Labors at Thetford After Unusual Demonstration

Canadian Press

Thetford Mines, Que., Dec. 24.—Satisfied the transfer of their chaplain was due to no political manoeuvres and anxious to do the bidding of Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, between 800 and 900 asbestos miners of this town returned to work to-day and midnight mass to-night will be celebrated without interruption.

Climax of the turmoil which has raged in this mining community since last Friday when Rev. Pierre Gravel, vicar of the parish and founder-chaplain of the Roman Catholic Miners' Syndicate, was notified of his transfer to a Quebec city parish, was reached yesterday when about 600 workers in two mines laid down their tools in protest. The manager of a third mine closed down as a precautionary measure.

ELECTION SPEECHES

Father Gravel took to the public platform during the last provincial election in Megantic County which returned Mayor Tancrede Labee, Action Liberal Nationale candidate, to the Legislative Assembly. Seeing in Father Gravel's transfer the result of possible political moves, members of the syndicate he founded eleven years ago decided to protest along the best lines at their disposal.

They held meetings, decided to quit work yesterday and threatened to padlock the Roman Catholic

Russia and Smaller States, Eyeing Germany, Ask Britain's Attitude

Canadian Press from Havas

London, Dec. 24.—The Soviet Union and the Baltic states, it was learned on reliable authority to-day, have asked Great Britain to define its attitude toward possible control of the Baltic Sea by Germany.

Reports of the inquiry from the U.S.S.R. and neighboring northern states spread among delegates to the Five-power Naval Conference. The step is believed to have been taken in relation to the discussion in London, now adjourned until next month.

It is not known how Britain replied to the communication. The British view, it was said, however, is that the inquiry raises hypothetical questions and cannot therefore be answered in any final way.

RUSSIA'S STRENGTH GROWS

Associated Press

Moscow, Dec. 24. — The Soviet Union, in a thinly disguised warning to Germany and Japan, announced through the press to-day that its submarine and destroyer fleets have been practically quadrupled during the last four years.

A statement printed in the government newspaper, Izvestia, said in addition that the coastguard fleet had been increased 1,100 per cent, but gave no figures bearing on the actual strength of any naval unit.

Province To Have Trade Department

Premier Pattullo Announces New Branch of B.C. Service; Reorganization of Bureau of Information As Tourist Agency Proposed

Establishment of a provincial department of trade and commerce and the reorganization and development of the Bureau of Information to promote tourist traffic are planned by the provincial government, Premier Pattullo announced in a radio address yesterday evening.

"We think that, working in conjunction with industry, opportunity will be afforded to expand present trade as well as open up new avenues of endeavor," the premier said, regarding the plan to form a trade and commerce department.

Resources of the province were vast, he declared. Every portion of it was a "potential mine with golden opportunities."

"How can one contemplate the blessings that have been showered upon this province without having a vision of enormous development?" the premier asked.

NO EXCUSE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

" I do not hesitate to make the statement that there is no excuse for unemployment in Canada other than for the unemployable," he declared. "All our employable should be employed and our population augmented by the influx of the sturdy and strong of other peoples."

The Premier also announced the government would give financial assistance to Vancouver in staging its jubilee celebration next year.

In the course of his remarks on the conference, the premier criticized "misrepresentative and misleading," statements, calculated, he said, to

PEACE PRAYERS AT BETHLEHEM

Christian Pilgrims Pour Into Town to Celebrate Christmas in Church of Nativity

Associated Press

Bethlehem, Dec. 24. — The prayer of Christian pilgrims for an e to the Italo-Ethiopian war mingled to-day with the pealing of bells hailing anew the birth of Jesus of Nazareth.

Throughout the day thousands of worshippers from many lands poured into Bethlehem to celebrate Christmas Eve in this little market town where 2,000 years ago the Magi found the newborn Jesus in a manger.

Some trudged laboriously on foot. Others rode in automobiles along the broad highway from Jerusalem, eight miles away.

At midnight, a symbol of the Star of Bethlehem which guided the Three Wise Men long ago will be set ablaze above the altar in the Church of the Nativity—built directly over the spot where the Christ Child is believed to have been born.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGES OF CHEERFUL NATURE

Christmas greetings from provincial and civic leaders were expressed to-day, all conveying a spirit of optimism and the thought that economic conditions had definitely improved during the year now drawing to a close.

Following are texts of messages given out:

CHIEF JUSTICE J. A. MACDONALD
Administrator of the Province

"It is with a very great deal of pleasure that I am taking this opportunity of conveying to the people of our province a message of greeting at Christmas-time.

"I am sure it has been with feelings of sincere gratitude that we have seen, in recent months, indications that the severe economic depression of the past few years is slowly lifting, and I do most fervently trust those indications may prove to be real forerunners of a permanent return to prosperity.

"To one and all I wish a very merry Christmas and a prosperous and a Happy New Year."

PREMIER PATTULLO

He said:

"We are in the midst of the Christmas season, and it is gratifying that merchants are reporting a very considerable increase in business. This is an indication of improvement in conditions, but Tipperary is still a long way to go. This year there are many religious and service and charitable organizations, as well as private individuals, who are dispensing good cheer to those in need, while within the limit of unemployment relief there is no reason for any man, woman or child in British Columbia

Thousand Freed From U.S. Jails

Many Go Home With Pardons; in Alabama 500 Visit Homes For Christmas, to Return to Prisons January 3

Associated Press

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Goodwill among men brought glad tidings of freedom to hundreds of this nation's convicts to-day.

Prison gates swung wide across the land—from Maine to California, from Minnesota to Florida—and prisoners walked out with Yule pardons and paroles in their pockets.

The Christmas spirit had touched governors and parole boards of eighteen states, and the gifts they gave were new leases on life to more than 1,000 men behind penitentiary walls.

Five hundred of this happy army were going home to play Santa Claus to their families, "on their honor" to return to the Alabama state prison when their holiday ends on January 3.

Governor Bibb Graves was undisturbed by fears the 500 would not come back. Three thousand Alabama prisoners spent Christmas at home in the last eight years and only seven failed to return.

Christmas bells were even more joyous for some 850 men and women freed of all their prison ties.

Seven were serving life terms as killers, two in Massachusetts and five in Colorado.

Addis Ababa, Dec. 24.—A new ruse, designed especially to mislead airplane observers, has led to an Ethiopian success on the northern front, including the capture of ten tanks, it was claimed here to-day.

To deceive the Italians, Ethiopians used dummies dressed in the traditional white costume of native warriors.

These dummies were realistically scattered about a valley through which an Italian advance was expected. The Ethiopian soldiers, wearing khaki hid in the next valley.

But Coalhurst, Alberta, Scene of Disaster, Will Have Sad Christmas

Canadian Press

Coalhurst, Alta., Dec. 24.—Coalhurst, scene of southern Alberta's greatest mining disaster when sixteen men met death early this month, today faced a cheerless Christmas.

Untouched, Christmas trees lay in back sheds where they had been placed ready for decorating for the Yuletide. Tinsel decorations lay unwrapped. All was forgotten when death struck the modest homes of the miners.

Twenty-three children were left fatherless. Some had known poverty in other years, but with more regular work at the mines and pay envelopes coming in more often, they had looked for a merry Christmas.

Preparations for Christmas were in full swing when the blast brought mourning. Presents will be exchanged to-morrow—relatives and friends planning a visit to the homes of the bereaved—but it will be a far different holiday than was planned.

The whole statement bristled with emphasis on Russia's undersea power in the Pacific and Baltic and appeared to foreign observers to be particularly significant, coming, as it did, on the heels of the alleged threat by Japan and Manchukuo to invade Outer Mongolia.

READY FOR DEFENCE

The Mongolian government, whose War Minister and Prime Minister have been here ten days conferring with Soviet leaders, took a firm stand in facing the situation. Mongolia demands an apology from Manchukuo for the clash which Mongolia claims resulted from an attack on a Mongolian frontier post, in which five Mongolian soldiers were killed.

"Soviet Russia," declared Izvestia, "is always the bearer of the standards of peace, but it will answer threats of invasion with an increase of armed forces.

"The enemy who dares attack the Soviet Union from the Baltic or the Pacific will feel the force of our submarine and surface fleets as well as their quick mobility."

They would not then hear of it. They quit work and paraded to the station more than 1,200 strong to cheer the priest as he left to assume his duties.

When the demonstration appeared as though it would spread to the shoe industry, Mayor Labee and Rev. Gedeon Sauvageau, parish priest, traveled to Quebec to discuss with Cardinal Villeneuve developments resulting from his order.

their objective before a new rainy season begins in February.

From London came reports the Soviet Union and the small states bordering on the Baltic Sea have requested a clear definition of the British attitude on possible domination of the Baltic by the German fleet. Naval forces of the Reich are known to be steadily increasing, despite the formal censure passed by the League in April on Hitler's repudiation of the disarmament clauses of the Versailles Treaty.

NAVAL CONFERENCE

The League, with an "observer" at the International Naval Conference, will follow the sessions of that body when it reassembles in London next month. Japan, whose claims for parity threaten to deadlock the conference, is no longer a member of the League. The United States, an important participant in the five-power discussion, has never been a League member.

MONGOLIAN TENSION

While the League has not been called to settle the disputes disturbing the border of Mongolia and Manchukuo, the progress of events in that part of the world is closely followed here. Manchukuo is not recognized by the League—nor by the vast majority of the nations.

In Moscow to-day it was learned the Outer Mongolian government, acting in close consultation with Soviet authorities, presents an unyielding front to the threat of an invasion by Japanese-Manchukuan troops. A sharp note protesting the killing of five Mongol border guards and demanding the release of eleven prisoners, was forwarded to Manchukuo authorities by the Mongolians.

NORTH CHINA

While no League action is contemplated at this juncture, Geneva also watches the difficulties of the newly-formed automonous regime in north China.

The moderate policy of China's new Premier, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, in restraining the anger of Chinese nationalists, is regarded as an attempt at conciliation.

Rome, Dec. 24 (Canadian Press from Havas).—Great Britain's attempt to create a Mediterranean military alliance against Italy, Premier Mussolini's semi-official press said to-day, has brought Europe to the crossroads.

In an editorial discussing Britain's policy, The Popolo d'Italia declares Europe is confronted with "the alternative desired by the bloody sanctionists, confronted with the menace of war."

Renewing its charge that the Paris peace plans had been "torpedoed" before the Fascist Grand Council met to consider them, the paper demanded: "How can these peace proposals made to Italy be reconciled with the request for Mediterranean alliances for war against Italy?"

NOT SURPRISED

Italy is "neither astonished nor concerned nor angered" by Anthony Eden's appointment as Foreign Secretary, the Popolo di Roma declared in an inspired article, because "Italy has never had any illusion about the true aim of British policy."

"It is not astonished because it sees British policy has reached its natural solution. Italy has never had any illusion about the true aim of British policy."

NEW UNDERTAKINGS

London, Dec. 24 (Associated Press).—Great Britain pursued its policy of preparedness in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict to-day, authoritative sources disclosing after conclusion of "satisfactory" conversations between the British and French general military and naval staffs that similar contacts were being made in other important capitals.

Tightening all loopholes in the Mediterranean against any possibility of an Italian attack on nations applying sanctions, it was learned the British government sought through the military and naval attaches at the various capitals information concerning the readiness of the other countries to act.

With Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden formally taking up his duties as Foreign Secretary, the government designed its actions to bring into solid, practical form the present abstract status of mutual support under the Covenant of the League of Nations.

Discussion of an extension of sanctions against Italy for its invasion of Ethiopia was quieted amid the defence preparations.

CAUTIOUS COURSE

Mr. Eden was expected generally to proceed cautiously for the present, to avert fresh uncertainties. Any definite action for imposition of further penalties on Italy, therefore, was expected to be delayed at least until late January.

By then, responsible sources believed, Premier Mussolini would be forced to act—either for peace or further war—by the pressure of sanctions and the approaching African rains.

OPINION IN UNITED STATES

Canadian Press From Havas

London, Dec. 24. — The London Daily Telegraph, Conservative organ, in an editorial to-day declares public opinion in the United States misunderstands the motives which led Great Britain to resist Italian aggression and support the League of Nations.

Fear of entanglements, coupled with resentment because the League failed to back Secretary of State Henry Stimson regarding the Japanese invasion of Manchukuo in 1932, are responsible for the American attitude, the paper asserts.

"American opinion is frankly disappointing," The Daily Telegraph says. "It still seems to see only imperialistic and interested designs in the motives which led Great Britain to come out so strongly as the champion of the covenant and of collective security, and credits her with thinking only of herself."

MANY MESSAGES

The King Government was sworn in two months ago yesterday. At Laurier House to-day the Prime Minister, looking over the hundreds of Christmas greetings from all parts of the world, anticipated only a brief respite from his heavy tasks.

Final negotiation of a reciprocal trade agreement with the United States, abolition of all harbor commissions in Canada and creation of a Dominion commission in their stead, reorganization of the Canada Grain Board, a Dominion-provincial conference, application of a 75 per cent increase in relief grants to the provinces and installation of a new Goveror-General of Canada, were some of the many activities which occupied the government during its first two months in office.

who died last December in California after an emergency operation for appendicitis.

He sailed Saturday on the Westernland, a faster vessel than the American Importer, on which the Lindberghs are passengers.

Wales, where Mr. Morgan has established his home, is near Liverpool, the English port designated on the Lindbergh's ticket.

Mr. Morgan is one of many Americans who have expatriated themselves for varying reasons.

NEW YEAR AT SEA

New York, Dec. 24 (Associated Press.—Heavy seas may keep Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and their three-year-old son Jon on the North Atlantic for a New Year's Day celebration as well as for Christmas festivities.

An official of the International Mercantile Marine Company predicted to-day a stormy crossing would delay the American Importer, on which the Lindberghs are voyaging to England, possibly to make a permanent home.

The freighter, whose sole passengers are the noted couple and their little boy, is due at Cobh, Irish Free State, on December 29, and at Liverpool the next day. Winter weather, the official said, often delays the ship.

There had been no indication where the Lindberghs, who boarded the ship just before it sailed from New York early last Sunday, will disembark.

Although their only companions will be the ship's officers, their Christmas will not be a drab one.

CHRISTMAS GAIETY

Basil Harris, vice-president of the United States Lines, said the company sent a Christmas tree, several boxes of ornaments and three Santa Claus-size stockings aboard the freighter.

Provision also was made for a Christmas dinner. Special food was placed aboard for Jon, including fifteen quarts of grade A milk, Graham crackers and other wafers.

The New York Daily News said Col. Lindbergh yielded to the pleadings of his wife in making the trip. It was his own wish, the newspaper added, to see to the end the case of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, sentenced to die next month for the kidnap-killing of the Lindbergh's firstborn son.

The newspaper declared Lindbergh had considered confronting Hauptmann at the electric chair and trying to persuade him to make a full confession.

VARIED COMMENT

The departure of Col. Lindburgh for England with his wife and son brought varied comments from interested persons.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago: "If Col. Lindbergh is correctly quoted in the newspapers, I think his action is ridiculous. It's all right for him to go away for a while, but to leave the country permanently, on the ground his child is not safe here, is out of order."

City Manager H. F. McElroy of Kansas City, whose daughter was kidnapped and $30,000 ransom paid for her return: "It is an act of cowardice. In my judgment, the United States gives more and better protection to its citizens than any other country."

Mrs. Edward Gaffney, whose son was kidnapped nine years ago and never found, New York: "I'd do the same thing if I had the money to do it with."

War Christmas Is Seen in Italy

Associated Press

Rome, Dec. 24.—Modern Italy's warfare on Ethiopia caused a curtailment to-day of some of the manifestations of Christmas Eve in this ancient headquarters of the Christian church.

Eleventh-hour shoppers found the spirit of "buy Italian"—adopted in retaliation for the punitive economic siege by the League of Nations—uppermost in every store.

Many persons seeking to buy presents of foreign manufacture were turned away with the one curt word "sanctions," a reminder of the penalties applied by the League for the Fascist warfare.

TIPS ARE SMALLER

One section of the Italian populace particularly felt the effect of sanctions and the economic restrictions applied by the Fascist regime to combat the economic blockade. These were the porters, telegraph delivery boys and servants of all sorts, whose cheery greetings often received the reply "Don't forget sanctions." They accepted their part of the Christmas season sanctions burden in a sizeable reduction of tips.

KING OF HOBOES DISTRIBUTES GIFTS

Associated Press

Cincinnati, Dec. 24.—Jeff Davis, "King of the Hoboes," prepared today to hold "open house" on Christmas and through Friday for all his brother-itinerants, with "mulligan stew for everybody."

Pausing in the midst of sorting ties, mufflers, cigarettes and other articles which he said would be distributed, he made known he would "go to Sing Sing" during the holidays, where, as a guest of Warden Lawes, he would address inmates.

A Christmas message?

"Just this," said the greying and dynamic leader of the hoboes: "Our worst troubles are the best planning-ground for success.

"Christmas means only what you put into it. Dont' give a nickel with the idea of getting a nickel back. Forget all about getting anything back—and you'll likely be surprised."

Christmas Messages Of Cheerful Nature

to go hungry. Mere subsistence, however, is not sufficient, and the duty of all of us within our respective spheres is to do all possible to so improve conditions that all our people may be able to enjoy a standard of living where there is no want and where there will be reasonable opportunity for cultural development. There is more to the Christmas season than merely creature comforts, and at a time when so many nations are at daggers drawn, we may well reflect upon the teachings of the Master whose birth we are commemorating. World conditions to-day but accentuate the virtue and the wisdom and the vision of the lowly Nazarene.

"May I take this opportunity to wish everyone a Christmas of satisfaction and happiness and a New Year in which our best hopes may be realized?"

MAYOR LEEMING

In extending the greetings of the City Council and myself to the citizens of Victoria for a happy Christmastide, I do so in the full realization that there are many among us who are yet, through no circumstances of their own, being deprived of the fullness of life, to which, as citizens of a democratic country, they are entitled.

Until mankind generally, and that means every one of us, is prepared to put into actual practice the precepts of Christ Jesus, whose nativity we are to-day celebrating, and make practical the Golden Rule by really treating our fellow man in the spirit of true brotherliness, the conditions under which we are to-day laboring will continue.

I know that the citizens of Victoria have been unstinting in their endeavors to help alleviate the distress and suffering which exists, and their good work will not go unrewarded, but we must make still more determined efforts to restore a fuller life to those less fortunate than ourselves so that their independence may be permanently established and the feeling of being dependent on their fellow citizens is removed.

I wish to extend on behalf of the City Council our grateful thanks to those who have contributed either with gifts of money, service or otherwise, to those in need, and to wish again the good old wish, "A Merry Christmas to Every One."

HON. JOHN HART
Minister of Finance

"I desire to wish a happy Christmas to all citizens, and a good measure of prosperity during the coming year. Conditions have bettered very much in recent months, and all indications are that this improvement will continue. There are still many who require a helping hand, however, and I am sure these will not be forgotten at this season by those who are more fortunate."

D. B. PLUNKETT, M.P.

"Christmas brings to all citizens of Canada many reasons for thankfulness and rejoicing, for the last few years have been difficult and called for such self-sacrifice and patience on the part of all British subjects. The coming year is bright for world peace, future prosperity and well-being of our people.

"The darkest cloud on the horizon is that of war in continental Europe, but the League of Nations has labored so hard and is still making such an earnest endeavor to secure permanent peace that further war may yet be averted. We cannot but be thankful for the splendid work the League of Nations, and I am sure all lovers of earthly peace will have nothing but gratitude for the effective work of the society.

"May I express, through the medium of your columns, to all citizens of Victoria and of Vancouver Island my sincere wish for a happy and plenteous Christmastide, with peace on earth and improving future conditions for all our people."

REV. ROBERT CONNELL, M.P.P.

"There are many causes for anxiety and disquietude of spirit at the moment. The war cloud in Europe hangs only too low and if we feel its depressing influence, imagine what it must signify to the millions who are so much closer and therefore so much more vitally interested. Then, too, the economic difficulties that press so hard upon so many in this great and rich Dominion are little abated. For many thousands of families, Christmas may be brightened, but what of the days and weeks and months that lie between?

"Yet in the midst of our anxiety there is a strength and comfort in the message of Christmas, the Feast of the Christ-child, the Feast of Life that is ever young and fresh, full of hope and courage in the battles of human experience.

"Longfellow, in one of his poems, tells how he heard the bells of Christmas ringing their customary carols and how the message of 'Peace on earth, good will to men' seemed frustrated by the facts of life:

"'Then in despair I bowed my head;
"There is no peace on earth," I said,
For hate is strong and mocks the song
Of peace on earth, good will to men

"'Then pealed the bells more loud and deep;
"God is not dead nor doth He sleep!
The wrong shall fail,
The right prevail,
With peace on earth, good will to men."'

"God works through human wills and hearts, and Christmas has its true significance for us when it fills us with fresh determination to make the spirit of Christmas the spirit of our daily life, of our institutions, and of our human relations. In 'The Chimes,' Charles Dickens concludes: 'May each year be happier than the last, and not the meanest of our brethren or sisterhood debarred their rightful share.'"

REEVE W. CROUCH OF SAANICH

"It is customary at this time of the year to send out greetings and good wishes, which I sincerely do, not only to our own Saanich people, but also to the friends of Greater Victoria, who have shown me that they have a very kindly feeling toward Saanich by the splendid help they have given in our Christmas hamper fund campaign.

"My good wishes you always have and I can only repeat the old, old wish: 'A Merry Christmas to You All'."

REEVE ALEXANDER LOCKLEY
Esquimalt

"I am pleased to have the opportunity once again to wish the residents of Esquimalt and Greater Victoria a very happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year. I hope that the signs of improvement in business that are reported from coast to coast will prove to be on a sound foundation and that the coming year will see a real advance towards more prosperous times."

Cummings also told officers that last night two men approached him, mentioned the Todd case, and struck him in the face. Previously Cummings had claimed to police he saw Miss Todd alive last Sunday.

WITNESSES CALLED

The first witnesses summoned by the grand jury this morning were:

Mrs. Martha Ford, wife of the actor, Wallace Ford. Mrs. Ford has said she was sure Miss Todd talked to her by telephone last Sunday afternoon at a time when police believed she was dead.

R. H. W. Schafer, manager of Miss Todd's "sidewalk cafe."

Robert Anderson, the cafe barkeeper.

George Baker, brother of Mrs. Ford, who has said he telephoned on Saturday to Miss Todd's apartment, inviting her to attend Mrs. Ford's Sunday party.

SPORT FISHING AREAS INCREASED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—A new policy to redeem thousands of virtually fished out areas close to centres of population across Canada is being prepared by the government to meet the vexed problem produced by the modern twin advancement of transport, better roads and the motor car.

Millions of dollars in tourist trade, chiefly from the United States, are at stake. The motto with which the situation is being attacked is "sport fishing is the best attraction to slow up the speed of the tourist and prolong his visit."

The programme will go farther than one of stocking and restocking of barren waters so far as good sport is concerned. Both have been carried on in recent years because of the depletion of hitherto isolated districts which became easy of access. Depending on the conditions of the waters, either small fry or the more fully grown fish have been used in restocking.

Two outstanding successes in stocking have occurred in Jasper Park. Speckled trout were introduced in Medicine and Maligene lakes shortly after 1928, and Rainbow and Kamloops trout in Amethyst Lake more recently.

NEW JERSEY PLAN

Details of the new policy will be completed shortly. The system in the state of New Jersey of placing full-grown fish in deteriorated streams is frowned upon in Canada, however, as too costly and destructive to the sporting instinct of those who are prone to wield the rod.

It will be necessary, though, to obtain the co-operation of various provincial governments. With the exception of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia, administration of fisheries is being carried out by the provinces themselves. One count on which provincial action is expected to be sought appertains to the licenses issued by provinces to fishermen. These permit the holder to fish where he pleases within the province's boundaries. An influx into particular areas has seriously impoverished these streams. The suggestion is the provinces should restrict the locale of the licenses.

URGE MANY GO PROSPECTING

Possibilities Great in Alaska, Say D. B. Stewart and Rex Beach

Associated Press

Juneau, Alaska, Dec. 24. — D. B. Stewart, territorial commissioner of mines, going Rex Beach, author, one better, suggested to-day that deserving young Alaskans and transients be organized into units similar to the Civilian Conservation Corps to stimulate development of untouched mineral resources.

Stewart viewed the government-financed mineral prospectors, as advocated by Beach recently in Washington, D.C., with a friendly eye.

Beach recommended the federal government "grubstake" prospectors to search for gold and other minerals in Alaska. He contended there are many rich deposits awaiting discovery in Alaska.

Stewart said he believes Beach's plan would be more practical if initial operations were limited to prospectors and potential prospectors now in Alaska.

He would organize young men now on Alaska relief rells and transients into units, establish them in mineral areas, and send them into the field under supervision of experienced prospectors.

"This would enable the old sourdoughs to transmit their knowledge to the new generation and at the end of a year's training the young men would be likely candidates for grubstakes from either private or government agencies," he said.

ELECTION TO BE CONTESTED

ALBERTA IS TO GET $3,000,000

Federal Loan Will Meet Relief Costs and Provincial Deficit

Edmonton, Dec. 24.—Another $3,000,000 is coming to Alberta in the way of federal government assistance, according to Hon. Charles Cockroft, Provincial Treasurer, who returned yesterday from the east. It is to be paid, as required, for agricultural and unemployment relief and for current deficit to the end of the fiscal year and will be a loan, against which treasury bills will be issued by the province.

Mr. Cockroft remained in Ottawa for a few days after the Dominion-provincial conference to carry on negotiations with the Finance Department for further federal assistance.

Under the new agreement the Dominion Government will finance the two relief accounts, for agriculture and unemployment, and will assist with the balance of the current deficit to March 31 next. In each case monthly statements of expenditures will be submitted by the province, and on this basis the federal payments will be made. It will be recalled that at the conference Alberta agreed, along with the other provinces, to closer supervision by the Dominion of its expenditures.

ASSYRIANS TO MIGRATE

Descendants of Ancient Race to Be Moved From Iraq to Orontes Valley, Syria

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—A large portion of the Assyrian race, descendants of a people who had already reached a high state of civilization before Abraham migrated from Ur of the Chaldees, is in danger of extinction. Captain G. F. Gracey, D.S.O., who toured Canada four years ago in the interests of that ancient people, has communicated to sympathetic friends in Ottawa something of their plight. He is overseas delegate of the "Save the Children Fund," with headquarters in Gordon Square, London, England.

Captain Gracey was for many years before the war a missionary in Kurdistan and the Caucasus. His services were "co-opted" by the War Office in 1915, and he was sent to Tiflis, the capital of Georgia, attached to the British mission operating with Grand Duke Nicholas. In this capacity he ranged through the Middle East, becoming something of a "mystery man," and rendered great help in the revolt of the Assyrians in the neighborhood of Lake Urmia near Tabriz, Persia.

Gracey was credited with having inspired the dispatch to Persia of Major-General L. C. Dunsterville and his "hush-hush army," in which nearly forty Canadian officers and sergeants took part during 1918.

CLASHES WITNESSED

Following the war the Assyrians were transferred from Urumia to Iraq, many of them joining their compatriots in the region of Mosul. Clashes between them and the Iraqui, however, disposed the League of Nations to find a permanent settlement for them. At one time British Guiana was suggested, but that country was found unsuited to the mountainous people.

"At long last," writes Capt. Gracey, "a place of settlement has been found in Syria—an area in the Orontes Valley know as the Gharb."

Their trasfer to Syria will cost $3,000,000, of which the League of Nations is contributing $500,000. The remainder will be found by the British and Iraq governments.

"We hope to start moving the Assyrians in March," says Capt. Gracey. "Meanwhile we must keep those waiting alive . . . If we don't do something this winter for the Assyrians in Iraq, there will be all the fewer to deal with eventually in Syria."

Capt. Gracey makes a private appeal to assist the unfortunates living in subservience and squalor among a people alien to them in race and religion.

Building Total In Canada Grows

Construction Figures in Ten Months Show Gain of 83 Per Cent

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—Canada's world leadership in improvement in the construction industry for the first ten months of 1935 is reflected in the total value of building authorized for that period, compared with the corresponding ten months of last year. Up to October 31 new construction in the Dominion in 1935 amounted in value to $40,530,678, against $22,313,170, a gain of close to 83 per cent.

In other lines of industry the increase was not so spectacular, but undoubted gains were achieved in most of them. Canada stood sixth among the trading nations of the world in that period. Her imports and exports had a value of $1,042,258,937, compared with $957,308,761, or nearly 9 per cent greater in 1935 than in 1934. This year the excess of exports over imports was $130,684,265, compared with $108,312,569 for the corresponding ten months of 1934.

Contributing to this favorable position in the primary and processing industries were exports of newsprint which in that period this year totaled $70,214,700 against $65,859,989. Exports of nickel rose from $25,505,983 to $29,705,583, copper from $18,217,638 to $24,232,129, automobiles and their parts from $18,060,275 to $22,231,663 and wood pulp from $21,129,298 to $22,548,624.

RED ENCHANTRESS JAILED IN CANTON

Associated Press

Canton, China, Dec. 24.—The career of a Chinese Mata Hari who lured Nationalist army officers to their deaths at the hands of Communists in central China has ended in a Canton prison.

Educated in a mission school, a Hunan sing-song girl named Soo was married to a hotel-keeper whose death left her with a prosperous inn. Her beauty and ability to sing drew large crowds of the army officers then engaged in the anti-red campaign in Hunan.

A red officer disguised as a merchant came to her hotel, converted her to communism, and married her. She kept on with her hotel, luring regular army officers to the red base, where they were captured and often killed.

When the reds were driven into Szechuan, 500 escaped into Fukien and Kwangtung, where she became popular in her old trade of sing-song girl. But a Huanese officer who had known her several years before caused her arrest.

THE WORLD AND BETHLEHEM

THERE IS MORE GENERAL TANGIBLE evidence of Christianity in the so-called Christian world at Christmas time than there is at any other period of the year. The spirit of philanthropy, the desire to help those in need, the response to human suffering, the emphasis upon the home and family ties, the urge to give joy to children, are more pervasive now than they have been at any other time in the twelve months nearing an end. Unselfishness, consideration for the welfare and happiness of others and other features of the beatitudes, are the real links of the spiritual chain which to-day binds that part of mankind which calls itself Christian to Bethlehem where, more than twenty centuries ago, Christ was born.

This, of course, is not to imply that these virtues did not exist in society before the birth of Christ, nor that they are not practiced by those who do not subscribe themselves as Christian. In various degrees they have marked the evolution of humanity from its earliest beginnings. They have been the torches which have lighted the way to all enduring progress. Without them there could have been no civilization, whether Christian or not. All of them are instinctive, inherent in nature and its various manifestations, and although the materialism of mankind has attempted to destroy them they are an unquenchable spark which nothing can extinguish.

There also are elements of the human family who do not recognize the divinity of Christ in his person but who exhibit virtues which are unusually conspicuous at this season of the year. There are more of them, in fact, outside the Christian world than there are in it. Of a total population of some two billions less than a third belong to nations in which the Christian church dominates institutions of religion. Countless numbers practice the divine principles which are so consistently and eloquently expounded, but are often ignored in application, in the Christian part of the world.

Christ was born in a manger, not in a palace. He was raised in very humble circumstances, and did not know what it meant to have more than enough food and clothing to sustain him. As a child his toys probably were somebody else's cast-offs. When he grew to manhood he became a carpenter. When he began to preach he had no church, no solemn temple. Indeed, he had no home, no "place to lay his head," but lived with his followers. He went about from town to town, village to village, countryside to countryside, expounding a new gospel, emphasizing cardinal virtues, challenging old superstitions, religious concepts, vested interests, reactionary beliefs and customs. One of his most arresting slogans was "Peace on Earth Goodwill to Men." His Sermon on the Mount summed up the spiritual obligations of Christians, established in clear and explicit terms the boundary between Christianity and paganism. That deliverance, indeed, was the law by which those who professed themselves to be Christians were to be judged.

The Christian world is full of places of worship, and religious organizations, with rituals marked by a wide range of trappings from those of the utmost simplicity to those of great splendor. There are elaborate edifices, magnificent temples, the construction of which cost vast sums, and the maintenance of which imposes heavy drains upon the people who support them. There is a host of ecclesiastics, the highest of whom are surrounded by pomp, pride and circumstance and live princely establishments. These remind us less of the lowly Nazarene and his work than do the humble and obscure pastors in uninviting fields or the hard-working missionaries and welfare workers among the underprivileged. The latter indeed are much more suggestive of the divine founder of Christianity, who had no palatial church, no denominational organization, who wore nothing but the plainest every-day garments, who ate the simplest food, who told his disciples to go out into all the world to preach the gospel—not to some privileged corner of it.

What, we wonder, would be the attitude and fate of Christ if he returned to earth and preached his gospel as he preached it over nineteen centuries ago? What would be the reaction in many quarters to the radicalism he then enunciated? What would be the attitude of society if he pressed for the universal acceptance of the principles set forth in the Sermon on the Mount? Would he regard this world of to-day, bristling with armaments, just twenty years after the greatest war in its history and even meditating another orgy of slaughter, in any part a Christian world? Would he not flay it for its failure to practice Christian virtues at all times—not only at Christmas? Would he not sear it with the brand of hypocrisy, and would he not probably be ridiculed far and wide and eventually find himself in jail as a dangerous Red or in some asylum as one afflicted with a form of dementia?

The Christian world in most of its manifestations is indeed, in general, a long way from Bethlehem, and appears to be going farther away every day, but it is a shade nearer at Christmas time, not because of its "cloud-capped towers, gorgeous palaces and solemn temples," but because this festival inspires it to the practice of certain virtues which spring from a higher source than any power on this earth, and which alone differentiate Christianity from paganism.

CONSTRUCTIVE PROPOSALS

PREMIER PATTULLO'S ANNOUNCEMENT over the air yesterday evening that it was the intention of his government to establish a department of trade and commerce, and to reorganize the Provincial Information Bureau in order that it may better co-operate with the various tourist organizations, will be welcomed throughout the province.

There should be no necessity to emphasize the desirability of using every possible agency for the promotion of trade in British Columbia. This province is laboring under a heavy adverse balance with eastern Canada, while she is nearer than any other province of Canada to the great markets of the countries whose shores are washed by the Pacific.

We have in this province a great lumber industry which is capable of very considerable development. The Orient and the Antipodes take a good deal of our forest products. But by a more intensive canvass of these markets its annual sales might easily be doubled. British Columbia newsprint is another of our important exports; these exports, too, no doubt might be increased. The demand for the product of the sea, as represented by our varied fishery industry, similarly could be stimulated by more aggressive salesmanship such as a provincial department of trade and commerce should be able to provide. Indeed, British Columbia is progressing at a rapid rate in the production of primary and secondary commodities which should find a greater external sale.

As for the tourist business, the importance of which obviously is thoroughly appreciated by Mr. Pattullo, we have in British Columbia as a whole an adverse balance. More people leave the province than the number who come in. The object of the Premier is to redress the balance. Canada now has a national tourist organization with headquarters at Ottawa. In this province there are provincial and municipal tourist bureaus. A closer measure of co-operation between them and the federal bureau would greatly increase the effectiveness of our agencies for promoting tourist travel.

It is gratifying that Mr. Pattullo laid particular emphasis on the tourist business in his radio address last night. After all, it is one of Canada's major industries, and anything that can be done to extend it will be good business. No business yields greater returns for the outlay involved than this.

TO CARRY ON

LADY KINGSFORD-SMITH, WIDOW OF the famous airman, has announced that she will proceed with the plans her husband was making for a regular air service linking Australia and New Zealand. She will take the position which her husband occupied, before his untimely death, of director of the Trans-Tasman Air Development Company—it is now presumed that nothing more will be heard of him. He disappeared somewhere over the Bay of Bengal several weeks ago on his attempt to break the record for the time of flying between England and Australia. With him was his co-pilot, Tom Pethybridge, another noted flyer.

The company which Lady Kingsford-Smith will direct plans a semi-weekly air service between the two Dominions. It will use Sikorsky amphibian airplanes. She proposes to use her own resources until capital of $1,000,000 can be obtained, by private and public subscriptions.

The project which Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith conceived is an important one because it will bring these two southern Dominions into quicker and more frequent contact than is afforded by the ordinary steamship service. It is a formidable one because Kingsford-Smith often had described the Tasman Sea as the "dirtiest" sea he knew. All will hope, however, that the new venture will prove to be all that he wanted it to be.

SUPERSTITION PERSISTS

TWENTY-TWO MEN CROWDED INTO the subterranean crypt that housed King Tut, back in 1922, and took a look inside when the seals of the chamber were broken. Since that time, seven of the twenty-two have died, the latest being Dr. James H. Breasted, one of the world's most famous Egyptologists.

Because of these deaths, there are people simple enough to believe that the ancient curse laid upon despoilers of the tomb is working.

It can be pointed out, of course, that seven deaths among twenty-two persons in thirteen years do not make an unusually high average. It can also be pointed out that Dr. Breasted himself was seventy—the scriptural limit of threescore years and ten—and that medical science is not in the least mystified about the cause of his death.

But you could point these things out until you were blue in the face and it would do little good. A person who will believe in a 3,000-year-old curse will go on believing in it in spite of all the common-sense evidence you can give him.

INTOXICATING LOVE

(A person can become drunk on love as well as from inbibing liquors. Decision of the State Supreme Court of Colorado in upholding a damage award.—News Item.)

'Tis the judgment of the court
That intoxication lies
Of a most distressing sort
In a maiden's twinkling eyes.

When the motor car is wrecked,
Blame it not on kitchen gin,
It may be the strange effect
Of a dimple in her chin.

When he fumbles for the clutch,
As along the street he zips,
It may be one drop too much
Of the nectar of her lips.

When he cannot talk or see
And his brain is all awhirl,
Now the cause of it may be
Just a little too much girl.

When his eyes seem out of place,
Blame it not on to much rum;
It may be another case
Of love's wild delirium.

When he zig-zags down the road,
(See the court decree above!)
He may merely have a load
Of the liquor known as love.

Loose Ends

Yes, it's here again and you can't do anything about it now—but it would be far worse anywhere else—and you can really count yourself very lucky.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

IT'S HERE AGAIN

THE LITTLE PIECE that was supposed to go in this space to-day was written in a Pullman car last week between Ottawa and Winnipeg, on a portable typewriter, to the acute annoyance of the passengers. I forget for the moment what it was about. But it has just occurred to me that it is now Christmas Eve, and one really ought to do something about it. Actually, I suppose there isn't anything you can do about it and not much you can even write about it.

The obvious thing to write about it is something like this: "The depression is now over, according to the very best experts. There are only a million Canadians on the dole this Christmas, with inadequate housing, clothing and nourishment, and about twenty million Americans. The last attempt to limit armaments among the nations has just broken down. Europe is trembling on the verge of the war which, historians say, will end our present civilization.

"Good friends, Merry Christmas!"

BLESSED PLACE

THAT IS THE OBVIOUS thing to say and has a certain cheap glitter to it. But I am not saying it because Victoria should have the merriest Christmas, despite everything, of any known abode of men. Indeed, as I stepped off the boat here the other day and breathed the clean air again, it occurred to me this was the first whif of sanity I had felt since I went away a month before. It was only in the relatively sane air of Victoria that you realize how you have been living with madmen in a well-furnished asylum for weeks, and gradually getting insane with the other inmates. The rescue in my case has come on Christmas Eve, just in time.

HOMING DOVE

IT IS EASY TO SAY, as I frequently do, that one is blessed by the gods merely in living here. But you never realize it fully until you have been away for a while. Then you come fluttering back like a homing dove at eventide. (I may not have looked like a homing dove exactly, especially when I was carrying a large doll in a box which groaned in a ghastly fashion whenever it was tilted in any direction, but that is how I felt). And the reason, of course, is that the civilization, which the next war is going to destroy, has never reached here.

We imagine ourselves to be civilized. We have all the outward trappings, mechanics, facilities and organization of civilization, but the thing has never really caught up to us, never crossed the water to our island. There is still a curious streak of innocency in us which strangers take to be ignorance. It is unutterably pleasant and cleansing to come back to it just at Christmas Eve, when our own holly wreaths are hanging in the windows and the primroses are blooming out of doors and the last-minute shoppers are crowding dear old Douglas Street.

OTHER PLACES

THIS IS TERRIBLE stuff, which I will be the first to deny after the holidays are over, but you have caught me in a moment of weakness. What am trying to say through all this mass of words is that New York is in the grip of a stark madness, on the eve of another bull market and swept by icy winds; Montreal is frozen solid; Toronto is a foot deep in wet slush and a quaint village pomposity; Ottawa and Winnipeg are confering behind high fur collars; most of the country is shivering in its shoes; everybody secretly envies you here in Victoria on Christmas Eve.

PATHETIC

IT IS PATHETIC, though, to hear everyone ask you, on your return from a brief visit to the east, how business conditions are, what lies ahead. As if the east knew! As if Wall Street ever guessed right about anything! As if the people down there were any better equipped to figure things out than we are here! And as if they would tell me anyway!

After half a dozen fellows have asked you, with a touching faith, how things are going, whether times are picking up, you have to think up a story in self-protection. You have to prepare a little sales talk to satisfy them. If you merely look them in the eye and say: "They don't know a darn thing more about it down there than you do, which is nothing at all, and I knew much more about it before I went there, and got all my ideas confused, so you'd better enjoy this Christmas because it may be the last"—if you say that, people think you are crazy, as they usually do when you tell them the truth.

So I have built up a little sales talk brief, pithy, to the point. I tell the lads that common stocks are going up; Wall Street is feeling bullish; inventories are being replaced (whatever that may mean) and there is a greater tone of confidence than at any time since 1929.

People listen to that and think you must know something, think that you have been conferring with the Morgans and Lamonts and Whitneys and that this is the real low-down. Actually, all I found out after lunching with wicked financiers on Wall Street five days in a row is that the Morgan partners all chew gum while at work. I thought that interesting and rather important. It sort of revives your faith in capitalism.

THANKS

A LOT OF PEOPLE have written to me in my absence about various things. I should like to say that thousands have written me, but that would be a slight exaggeration. Anyway, far too many have written to make a reply to them possible. This is an easy and cheap way of thanking them. If I were to write each of them separately, I wouldn't be able to afford the expense of the stamps and I should have no time left for Christmas shopping. I hope they will write again.

And please excuse the cheap personal tone of this column to-day when I had a nice serious piece all written about some vital problems. I have been overcome by the warm luscious air of Victoria. But what does it matter; no one will read the paper to-night, anyway.

POLLING PLANS IN ESQUIMALT

William J. Cave was last night appointed returning officer for the municipal elections in January by the Esquimalt Council. Five applications were considered by the council.

A. E. Cave was chosen from two applicants as the deputy returning officer.

The nominations will be held in the Municipal Hall, and polling will be as in previous years at the hall and at 855 Craigflower Road. A motion by Councillor T. Harry Hodgson, seconded by Councillor F. G. Eaton, that the school board be approached as to the possibility of using the Lampson Street school or the Esquimalt High School as a single polling station, was defeated.

Reeve Alexander Lockley explained that the school board had in the past made its intention plain of not permitting the school buildings to be used for political purposes.

WARNING!

Henceforth it positively will not print communications which exceed that length.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent for publication in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether they are published or not, unless they have been specially solicited.

AN APPRECIATION

To the Editor—I should like to say how much we all appreciated the splendid programme put on over CFCT on Sunday evening by the band of the Esquimalt Salvation Army, more so, when we consider they are representing a new opening, only being established about six months.

If we could only get more of these splendid programmes, what a benefit it would be to the shut-ins.

Why not give these people who are willing to sacrifice home and its comforts a little more thanks and help from the general public?

Thank you, Esquimalt Army Band; we shall be looking for you to give us another treat during the winter.

ISOLATIONISTS

To the Editor:—To judge from Mr. Bruce Hutchison's interesting article on the Ottawa reactions to sanctions the attitude of the "isolationist" group is something like this: They blame the British Government for "cynical betrayal" of Ethiopia, and "throwing her to the wolves" because an attempt was made at a compromise in order to get rid of the awful possibility of a major war, and yet they are determined to be out of it when a strong policy leads to war. It is understandable that no compromise with Mussolini should be thought of, but in that case those who condemn compromise in such unmeasured terms should take steps to accept their full share of the risks arising out of the policy of "no compromise." It isn't quite good enough to leave Britain in the front line alone and then criticize her from the rear because she tries to get for Ethiopia the best terms possible if the risk of a major war is not to be faced.

If we in Canada turn "isolationists" at least we should not copy American isolationists. If we barricade ourselves in our house when the vigilantes are hunting down the bad man we should at least refrain from loudly abusing the vigilantes from our housetops, condemning them for "cynicism" and "betrayal" if they show signs of weakness, and for bullying and greed if they show signs of strength. The American isolationists have hard names all ready beforehand for any possible action the League and Britain may take, whether it is strong action or weak action. They know beforehand that the League and Britain simply cannot do anything right.

ANTI-ISOLATIONIST.

MISREPRESENTATION

To the Editor:—In your editorial under the heading of "Misrepresented" you take to task the premier of Alberta for his assertion that the press has not always correctly reported him. By a curious coincidence you have in the same article been guilty, I think, of misrepresentation when you state: "Mr. Aberhart in pursuing his fixed idea of a twenty-five dollar dividend, etc."

Unless you have something more definite, one must rely on the evidence taken before the committee of the legislature in which Mr. Aberhart is reported (page 16) to state "say $25.00" by way of illustration only. Similarly, the term "fixed" is not in conformity with a social credit scheme, as the amount of the dividend varies with the deficiency between production and consumption, being mathematically computed in order to avoid inflation.

Might it be appropriate to remind you of the following speech in the House of Commons, vide Hansard, June 27, 1934? "Once a nation parts with the control of its currency and credit, it matters not who makes the nation's laws. Usury, once in control, will wreck any nation. Until the control of the issue of currency and credit is restored to government and recognized as its most conspicuous and sacred responsibility, all talk of the sovereignty of Parliament and of democracy is idle and futile."

This perfectly clear exposition of social credit was made not by one of your "egomaniacs" of social credit but by the present Prime Minister of Canada, whose policy you so consistently eulogize.

DECEMBER 24, 1910

(From The Times Files)

The City Council last night held a short and formal session in the committee rooms before taking up the streets, business and sewers committee business, and finally passed the five by-laws which are to be placed before the ratepayers for their decision.

The B.C. Telephone Company has opened an exchange at Sidney, with which long distance connection can be obtained. A branch is also being stationed at Keating.

The streets committee of the City Council last night adopted a recommendation from the city engineer that the trees on Douglas Street, between Queen's Avenue and Bay Street, be removed; also three poplar and three maple trees on Vancouver between Pandora and Johnson and one poplar on North Park between Blanshard and Quadra.

A petition signed by the majority of the property owners on Broad Street is now in the hands of the city clerks asking that a system of cluster lights be installed on that thoroughfare on the section from Cormorant Street to Fort Street. The petition will come before the council at Tuesday evening's meeting.

Judge Mitchell Visiting City

Other Members of Alberta Judiciary to Holiday in Victoria

Mr. Justice C. R. Mitchell of the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta, accompanied by his daughter Barbara, arrived at the Empress Hotel yesterday from Edmonton.

He is the first of a number of Alberta judges who plan to spend part of their Christmas vacation on the Coast. Chief Justice W. C. Simmons and Mr. Justice A. H. Clarke, are shortly expected to arrive in Victoria. Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie, is now in Vancouver.

This will be the first Christmas Mr. Justice Mitchell has spent in Victoria and he and his daughter are anticipating with a good deal of pleasure the prospect of participating in the Yuletide celebrations here.

Educated at the Strathcona School for girls, Miss Mitchell has a large number of friends in Victoria and District.

Mr. Justice Mitchell said he expected to remain in Victoria for a couple of weeks.

GARBAGE WHARF TO BE REPAIRED

A permit for repair work on Victoria's garbage wharf was taken out at the city building inspector's office yesterday.

The project will be carried through by the city with the assistance of relief labor and will cost approximately $1,000.

A permit was also issued to the Playhouse Theatre for improvements to cost $870. The work covers renovation of the face of the building, which will be finished in stucco. Graham Johnson is the architect and Parfitt Bros. Limited the contractor.

Victorians Given Radio Certificates

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 23.—The radio branch of the Department of Marine to-day announced the following had been granted commercial radio certificates:

D. J. Cameron, Cloverdale, B.C.; G. A. Armstrong and D. G. Murphy, Vancouver.

The following were granted amateur certificates:

W. H. Minshull, Burnaby, B.C.; M. C. Brooke, Eburne, B.C.; E. Bronlund, Fort Street, James, B.C.; J. A. Collins, North Vancouver, B.C.; G. W. Perasall, Vancouver; S. Harlock, Victoria; E. A. Kirk, Dawson, Y.T.

All members of the Lake Hill Community Centre wishing to attend the annual social to be held January 8, are requested to advise the secretary on or before December 31.

The provincial government to-day authorized appointment of the following to the executive council of the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C.: A. H. Finlay, J. D. Galloway, H. L. Taylor and P. L. Lyford. They are appointed for 1936.

Nickofaz Kosovic has applied to the court here for naturalization as a Canadian. He was born at Novi, Jugoslavia and spent the first eighteen years of his life there. In 1929 he crossed the Atlantic and found a job working for Cathels and Sorenson on the West Coast. Then he moved off to work at Campbell River and Harrison Lake. Now, after spending the last year in Vancouver, he has decided to make this island his home with his residence at Port Renfrew where he is with John Quin. He has been set down to come up before Judge Lampman on March 2 for public hearing on his application.

"Friendly Dog" On Way to Movie Fame

Pat, Owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cooper, 241 Beechwood Avenue, Has Important Role in Central Films' Production, "Tugboat Princess"

"Just a friendly dog" is the way his owners describe him, but he is rapidly making a name for himself in the movie world, and will soon be seen on many screens when Central Films' new picture "Tugboat Princess" is released.

Pat is his name and he belongs to Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cooper of 241 Beechwood Avenue.

Pat has a real movie contract all to himself and he is fast becoming the pet playmate of nine-year-old Edith Fellows, the diminutive starlet of "Tugboat Princess."

Apparently he does not mind cold water. Already he has made several jumps before the watchful eyes of the cameras into the sea at Rithet's piers, and he has quite a few more yet to do.

The movie company was out at Rithet's piers this morning and got several excellent scenes made, despite the overcast sky. When steady rain began to threaten, the company moved to its studios at the Industrial Building, and got back to work on the hospital set which has been erected in the soundproof hall there.

Kenneth J. Bishop, the producer and the president of Central Films Limited, which is working for Columbia Pictures Incorporated, this morning again expressed his satisfaction at the progress of the work on "Tugboat Princess."

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

NEGRO'S SLAVE TO EMPEROR

Jean Jacques Dessalines, because of his ugliness, was sold as a slave to a negro, a disgrace few negroes could bear, when he was brought manacled to Saint Domingue about 1779. But a few years later, all blacks of that island, which now is Haiti, followed Dessalines in a rebellion against the French.

Early attempts at revolt were costly to the negroes. But when the French tried to trap Dessalines at a party supposed to be given in his honor, a negro slave gave him the warning in their own secret code, and the commander fled from the room. That set the signal for a fierce war, which ended in 1803 with Dessalines as governor-general of Haiti.

In the fall of 1804, when Napoleon became Emperor of France, Dessalines took the cue and crowned himself first Emperor of Haiti. But soon revolt stirred again, this time against Emperor Dessalines. One day, while out riding, he was ambushed and killed.

LIFE IN ARCTIC PROVES VALUE OF PROTEINS

Explorer Stefansson Lived Solely on Meat Diet for Nine Years, and at Fifty-five Has Vigor and Health of Youth

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

After spending eleven and a half years in the Arctic and living for about nine years of that time on an exclusive diet of meat, the explorer Stefansson was given a complete physical examination, in 1926. He found that an exclusive meat diet worked as well when he was inactive as when he was active, and in hot weather as in cold.

After an exclusive meat diet lasting twelve months, two Arctic explorers living in New York were given similar study. In their cases also no serious changes were found. The blood pressure was not disturbed; in fact, in one man it was lowered. The men had no lessening of physical or mental vigor.

Recently Stefansson was examined again, after a lapse of nine years, to find out whether there had been changes in his body as a result of the meat diet on which he had lived so long. He is now fifty-five years old and has aged very little.

He has been in excellent general health since he lived on an exclusive meat diet. He has worked rather strenuously, and has led a sedentary life, yet he does not suffer from any disturbance of his blood chemistry or of his digestion. He reports that he has no headaches, but occasionally some colds.

His blood pressure, although he is fifty-five years old, is 120 systolic and 80 diastolic, which is considered the normal blood pressure for a person aged anywhere from twenty-one to forty-five.

A meat diet is essentially a high protein diet. There has been a tendency for people to be afraid of proteins—a tendency utterly without sense, since proteins are the building materials of tissues. A large supply of our proteins is found in animal products and in dairy products.

The proteins from all meats, including that from fish and chickens, ducks and other fowl, is about of the same type. Chemists do not find any special differences between the red meat which comes from the cows and that which comes from the lamb.

Notwithstanding these facts, people who are disturbed about meat do all sorts of peculiar things. They will stop beef and continue to take lamb, fish and chicken.

The one slight difference that exists between red meat and white meat is that red meat contains certain extractives not present in white meat. The pecular ideas people have about red meat and white meat seem to be purely notions, and nowhere in the history of dietetics is there to be found any scientific basis for these notions.

Incidentally, animal organs which are largely protein supply in addition to the protein many of the important factors necessary for the blood and the proper functioning of the body.

DONATES LOSER FIRST

Woman Champion Lets Opponent Take One Trick to Assure Sloughing of Other Low Cards

By WM. E. McKENNEY

According to Mrs. A. C. Hoffmeier of New York, who has been president of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Bridge League for the last two years, "women are taking a more active part each year in championship bridge. Women's names will be found on practically every major championship bridge trophy in the country."

Mrs. Hoffmeier and her teammates, Mrs. Anne Rosenfeld of Cleveland, Mrs. Albert Rockwell and Mrs. Gail Hamilton of Warren, Pa., will defend their title in the women's national team of four events which takes place the first afternoon of the programme, December 2, the finals on December 3.

Many new women's teams are being organized throughout the country to compete in this contest.

In to-day's hand Mrs. Hoffmeier held the South cards. Her jump bid of four hearts, over her partner's raise to two spades, was a game demand bid and a mild slam try. North, knowing that her partner would not invite a slam without control in three suits, felt justified in showing her additional strength by going five spades, which is, of course, accepting the slam invitation.

THE PLAY

Against the six spade contract, West made the natural opening of the king of diamonds. This was won by declarer with the ace. Two rounds of trump were taken, picking up the outstanding ones.

Now most players might make the mistake of ruffing the two losing hearts. If so, there is no way to keep from losing two club tricks. Mrs. Hoffmeier decided that her only chance to make her contract was to find West with the queen of hearts, and by sacrificing a heart trick immediately, the losing clubs could be discarded on the ace and king of hearts.

So she played a low heart to dummy's jack. West, of course, had to win with the queen, and now Mrs. Hoffmeier's contract of six spades was made.

EXPECT BOOST IN BUSINESS

Bapco Paint Co. Planning Plant Extensions to Cope With Increase

Plans for plant expansion to cope with anticipated increases in business, both locally and on the prairies, were announced yesterday by J. Carl Pendray of the Bapco Paint Company, following a convention of salesmen from various centres here and on the prairies.

"We are looking forward to a considerable increase in business, and will have all our employees working full time in the new year when they have finished stocktaking," Mr. Pendray said to-day. "Our salesmen have reported a brighter outlook in business than they have seen for some time."

Mr. Pendray said new machinery had been installed in the local plant, and plans were underway for the construction of a new warehouse at Calgary and the extension of the one at Edmonton.

ESQUIMALT TO HOLD INQUIRY

Council Receives Request From Engineer For Opportunity to Answer Charges

At the request of H. F. Bourne, municipal engineer, a special session of the Esquimalt council will be held next Monday evening to consider charges laid against the public works department of the municipality in general and Mr. Bourne in particular by Councillor T. H. Hodgson, one of the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association's two representatives on the council.

"I assure you that all charges will be met in toto," said Reeve Alexander Lockley in fixing the time for the session, which will be private.

Mr. Bourne in a letter to the council had expressed his wish to be permitted to lay before the council his replies to any charges which Councillor Hodson was prepared to put forward in writing.

At the previous session of the council, Councillor Hodgson made certain charges regarding Skinner's Flats and other public works.

PLEBISCITE DEFEATED

A move, also put forward by Councillor Hodgson, with the backing of Councillor Frederick G. Eaton, the Ratepayers' Association's other representative, for a plebiscite on the question of the Provincial Police taking over the policing of the municipality, was voted down.

In his motion, Councillor Hodgson stated that there had been considerable discussion on the subject of extra police because of the beer parlors.

Reeve Lockley stated that no extra police were employed for this cause, and that if any were needed it would be for the beer parlor operators to enroll them. He added that there was no general demand for such a plebiscite in the municipality, and that to his knowledge there had never been greater satisfaction with the existing police system than at the present time.

Councillor Albert Heald stated that in the end, under Provincial Police jurisdiction, the municipality could get no better service and would have to pay more.

Other councillors stated that the Provincial Police would not be prepared to take on the collection of taxes, the operation of the pound and fire department duties which were at present assumed by the municipal police.

Daughters of Pity Gave Party For Tiny Patients

Annual Christmas Entertainment Held in Jubilee Hospital Ward; Little Dancers Enjoyed

Little patients in the children's ward of the Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday afternoon forgot their pains and aches and joyously welcomed Santa Claus. The Daughters of Pity sponsored the appearance of the genial visitor, introducing him at the annual tea and Christmas entertainment arranged by them for the child patients, who are their special care.

The ward was beautifully decorated, each cot being adorned with a greenery tied with red ribbons, while in one corner of the ward a tall Christmas tree was hung with scintillating tinsel ornaments and colored lights, and laden with mysterious packages.

LITTLE DANCERS

Pupils of Miss Violet Fowkes delighted the little guests with a most attractive programme. Yvonne Simpson opened the programme with a dainty dance and song; Stephen Michaud as a fascinating Mickey Mouse, who did a clever tap dance and then took his place among the other little performers under the Christmas tree. Alice May Stephenson and Thelma Karadimus, in ballet dresses, did an attractive dance, and Lois Russell in a diaphanous fairly costume danced her way round the room, much to the delight of the patients. June Gibson gave a charming Christmas song and dance, the children applauding enthusiastically.

Santa Claus, most realistically impersonated by Miss Kathleen Robert, then distributed gifts from the Christmas tree. Among the gifts, all attractively wrapped and labelled, were toys of every kind, dolls, books, sewing outfits and other things to delight the little recipients. The children also received gay balloons, which added to the color of the festive scene.

Miss Irene Bannerman, who convened the party, assisted by Mrs. C. Moore and Mrs. De Gruchy, led in the singing of Christmas carols, in which the nurses, members of the board, parents and friends of the children and other special" guests joined.

Ice cream was distributed to the little patients, and the older guests were entertained at tea in the corridor, members of the Daughters of Pity assisting in serving.

ARRANGING CHORUSES

as an active member of the Beaux Arts, Miss Grute has arranged two snappy choruses for the club's annual Snow Ball at the Empress Hotel, December 26, for which reservations are fast disappearing, being limited to only 300. Under the convenership of Miss Aileen Cullum and a committee of five, including Miss Elizabeth Edwards, Dr. John Mercer and Mr. Lea McMartin, new modes in favors and music have been ordered for the enjoyment of the dancers.

Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry presided in the absence of L. Abbott and a silver collection was taken towards the hampers.

Those taking part were: Miss Connie Barlow, Miss P. Reid, Miss Eileen Wills, Miss N. Arthur, Miss Joan Duncan, Miss Mable Sangster, Miss Peggy Butterfield, Miss Anderson, Miss Olive Smith, Miss Doreen Beare and Miss Betty Doodson.

DISCORD IN CITY OF SANTA CLAUS

Associated Press

Santa Claus, Ind., Dec. 24.—Jangle marred the merry jingle of Santa Claus's sleighbells to-day.

The discordant note was created by commercial organizations seeking to set themselves up as assistants to old St. Nick in this town that bears his name.

The rush of dispatching Christmas mail bearing the Santa Claus postmark subsided last night but the rumpus between corporations desiring recognition as helpers to jolly old Kriss Kringle apparently is just getting under way.

Santa Claus of Santa Claus Incorporated and Santa Claus Incorporated of Santa Claus have a suit pending in circuit court at Indianapolis to decide which is entitled to incorporation paper. The striking similarity of the names started the dispute between the rival concerns, both of which have set up in business here dispatching toys.

Oscar L. Phillips, holding a commission from Uncle Sam as postmaster here, has a strong claim as first assistant to the holiday saint. With other natives of the town he looks askance at the intrusion of the commercially-minded helpers.

Weddings

FENWICK—SIMPSON

At a quiet ceremony performed by Rev. T. H. McAllister, Qu'Appelle Street, on Saturday evening, the marriage was solemnized at 9.30 between Florence Emma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simpson of Webb, Sask., and John Gordon Fenwick, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fenwick, Webb, Saskatchewan.

The bride was attractively attired in a gown of delph-blue flat silk crepe. She wore a corsage of white carnations, and was attended by Miss Lenora Trickett. The groom was supported by Mr. F. E. Trickett. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fenwick will make their home in Victoria.

ENTERTAINED FOR DAUGHTERS

The whirl of Christmas dances and parties is now in full swing for boys and girls home from school for the holidays, and one of the jolliest of the season was that held at the Uplands Golf Club yesterday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Woodcroft and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nixon entertained jointly for their daughters, Helen Woodcroft and Joy Nixon.

Greenery and holly, Christmas bells and other seasonable decorations enhanced the attractiveness of the setting. Dancing to the strains of a three-piece orchestra took place in the main lounge, and supper was served downstairs.

The invited guests were Misses Ray Adamson, Elsie Appleyard, Thea Arbuthnot, Joan Austen-Leigh, Wendy Baillie, Helen Baird, Jane Barter, Patricia and Gladwyn Beasley, Perlita Beraha, Honor Benson, Charmian and Ivy Brown, Betty Burns, Eileen Carter, Sylvia and Peggy Collier-Wright, Helen Cornwall, Joan Cudemore, Poppy Davis, "Pat" Daw, Muriel Craig, Phyllis and Iris Dickson, Muriel Dunsmuir, Rosemary Farrow, Audrey Eberts, Roseanna Gillespie.

The probationers class of 1938 entertained the student nurses of the Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday evening, the party being held in the Nurses' Home. Miss Lena Mitchell, director of nursing, and the supervisors were special guests. Christmas decorations were used throughout and a beautifully illuminated Christmas tree held the gifts, which were distributed to the nurses by Santa Claus. The students all attended in fancy costume and a gay time was spent in games and a musical programme. In the programme each class was responsible for an act or musical number. Many skits were presented, causing much amusement.

Miss Joyce Murphy entertained the members of her bridge club recently at her home on Joseph Street. First prize was won by Miss Marjorie Delmastro, second by Miss Edna Horne, and consolation by Miss Winifred Foulds. Later a supper was served on a prettily arranged table covered by a Venetian lace cloth. A bowl of deep red chrysanthemums centred the table with tapering candles of a matching shade. Tea was poured by the hostess. Those present included: Misses Edna Horne, Marjorie and Kathleen Bowden, Winifred Foulds, Marjorie Delmastro, Christine Bevan, Lois Spooner and Joyce Murphy. The next meeting will take place in January at the home of the Misses M. and K. Bowden, the hostess being Lois Spooner.

Miss Catherine Craig was hostess recently at a delightful Christmas party held at Hampton Hall for her junior elocution, pianoforte and singing pupils and their friends. The hall was tastefully decorated, the beautifully-trimmed Christmas tree occupying a prominent place. Everyone entered heartily into the singing of Christmas carols, which was followed by an impromptu programme. The children's ages ranged from three to thirteen years and all gave creditable performances. Those taking part included Margaret Sedgley, Doreen Chaney (aged three years), Eileen Lang, Barbara Lipsey, Kathleen Wells, Betty Dempsey, Eileen Ells, Amy Ingram, Eleanor Wells, "Bunty" MacKay, Marie Vowles, who also played a much-enjoyed violin solo, and Dickie Lipsey. Several others were absent owing to illness. After the concert, many amusing games were played, prizes being won by Eileen Ells and Margaret Sedgley Later, all sat down at a prettily-appointed tea-table, decorated with red and green streamers, bon bons, and red tapers in silver scounces. Those assisting in serving were Misses Alberta Aitken, Jean Craig and Joy Dempsey.

ENGLISH YULE WAS FAILURE

Actress Disillusioned; Expected "Christmas Card" Atmosphere

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Only her sense of humor keeps Cornel Otis Skinner, the actress, from weeping when she thinks of one illusion relating to Christmas that was shattered with a loud crash.

Miss Skinner, one of the theatre's enchanting daughters, during the years of her girlhood harbored a romantic dream of passing a Christmas holiday in England.

"I'd always wanted to go there for Christmas," she said wistfully. "I guess I got the idea from Christmas cards. You know—yule logs, Merrie England, carol-singing, big stone fireplaces and snow all around outside."

Finally, when she found herself able to go, she boarded an ocean liner, crossed the story Atlantic, debarked at Liverpool, entrained for London with a fear of impending tragedy and passed the next two weeks in acute misery, with a cold and the depressed, frightened feeling induced by a dank, chill, foggy London winter.

"I don't think I saw the sun once,' Miss Skinner said. "But the people in England are nice, even if the climate doesn't agree with me."

The pupils of Prospect Lake School entertained their parents and friends at an enjoyable concert, under the direction of the teachers, R. Huddlestone and Miss A. Bossi, last Friday afternoon.

The lucky ticket holders in the grocery raffle, in aid of the sports fund, were: Mrs. H. C. Oldfield, Mrs. J. J. Quayle, Mrs. J. C. Mackay, Mrs. M. Roberts, Mrs. Fred Duval and Mrs. R. E. Lohr. The programme was as follows: "Welcome Song," "First Noel," "Home on the Range" and "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," by the school choir; piano solo, Nan Sharpe; nursery rhymes, Div. II; play, "St. Martin's Day," Div. I; dance, Patricia Hutchison; carols, school choir; drill, "Good-night," Div. III.

The accompanist was Nan Sharpe.

The Prospect Lake five hundred card party was held at the home of Mrs. J. Messerschmidt last Wednesday evening with three tables in play. The prizewinners were Mrs. D. Wilson, Mrs. R. E. Lohr, B. Loch, and D. Wilson.

Miss D. Hewitt entertained at a children's Christmas party at her home at Prospect Lake on Saturday afternoon. Games and contests were enjoyed and refreshments were served The invited guests included Bernice, Selma, Francis, Bruce and Melvin Lohr, Ada and Ellen Weeks, Alfred, George, Kathleen, Edith and Muriel Lohr.

LEAP YEAR WAS WOMAN'S IDEA

Canadian Press

New York, Dec. 24.—There is yet time for the faint heart that ne'er won fair lady—because its owner wasn't trying—to hie to the tall timbers. For seven and a fraction days remain before the dawn of another leap year.

After they elapse, he who cherishes "single-blessedness" is taking his solitary life in his hands for the full 366-day sweep of 1936.

There was a time when a woman had the law on her side when she went a-wooing in leap year. Perhaps it is superfluous to mention it was a women's idea.

In 1288, when the good Margaret of Norway ruled as Queen of Scotland, she took the wind out of bachelor sails by decreeing:

"It is statut and ordaint that during the rein of hir maist blissit megeste, for ilk yeare knowne as lepe year, ilk mayden ladye of both highe and lowe estait shall has liberte to bespeke ye man she likes, albeit he refuses to talk hir to be his lawful wife, he shall be mulcted in ye sum and pundis or less, as his estate may be; except and awis gif he can make it appeare that he is betrothit ane ither woman he then shall be free."

There are no statistics to reveal the number of Scots who surrendered bachelorhood rather than "ane pundis"—which may have equalled the present pound sterling, or, roughly, $5.

France copied the law a few years later. Genoa and Florence followed suit in the fifteenth century.

This year of open season on husbands owes itself to the fact that the astronomers of Julius Caesar, in 46 B.C., set the solar year at 365 days 6 hours. These extra hours, totaling a day every fourth year, become February 29. This orphan day leaps into what ordinarily would be the first day of March, and that is how the year comes by its name.

The belief that leap year comes once every four is not wholly correct. As measured by the sun, there are a few seconds each year which do not fit into man's accepted measure of time. To balance these unwanted seconds, the extra day is tossed overboard every century-year not divisible by 400.

Leap year was skipped in 1900. It will be skipped again in 2100, but that should not be a cause for worry as you can scarcely hope to be around then.

FORMBY HOUSE CONCERT HELD

Ganges, Dec. 24.—Formby House Private School held its annual concert and prize giving last Friday evening.

L. Cropper, principal, gave a resume of the term's work, the kindergarten teacher, Mrs. G. Reade also briefly speaking. Rev. C. H. Popham presented the prizes as follows: First divinity prize, A. E. Scoones; second, Winifred Calthrop; grade 8, arithmetic, R. P. Baker; English history and geography, A. E. Scoones; drawing, Mary Scoones; grade 7, arithmetic, O. Springford; English, geography, history and drawing, Winifred Calthorp; grade 5, arithmetic and English, M. Scoones; history, Alison Maude; geography and drawing, M. Scoones. Prizes for good conduct and sportsmanship were awarded Mary Scoones and Dick Baker in the senior classes, and by Susan Calthrop, first and Athol Cropper second in the juniors. An excellent programme of choruses, recitations and pianoforte solos was presented, the items including chorus by the school "Come to The Fair;" recitation "The Swing," Susan Calthrop; pianoforte solo, A. E. Scoones; chorus, "John Peel" by the school; chorus, "No, John No;" recitation, "Aunt Tabitha," Joyce Robinson; pianoforte solo, "Schumann," Mary Scoones; carol, "Hark, the Herald Angels" by the school.

The children enjoyed the visit of Santa Claus, (Capt. V. C. Best) who distributed gifts. The children sat down to supper in the class room, Mr. and Mrs. Cropper entertaining the elder guests to refreshments in the dining hall.

Kiddies Attend Annual Yule Tree

A large number of mothers and 275 children attended a successful children's Christmas tree held yesterday afternoon in the Foresters' Hall by the Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion and the women's auxiliary.

Each child was presented with a large Christmas stocking from a decorated tree by Santa Claus's helper, A. G. Drayton. Ice cream, nuts, crackers, fruit and paper hats were passed around.

John Gow presented a Punch and Judy show, much to the delight of the children, and also the grown-ups. Jerry Schofield, pianist, led the community singing.

The committee in charge was as follows: David Randall, H. Hobbs, J. P. Collins, J. Johnson, Bert Ripley and C. A. Gill.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL PAGEANT

The beautiful Nativity pageant "Bethlehem," will be given on Friday evening next at 7.30 o'clock in the Emmanuel Baptist Church by the scholars of the Sunday school. The Sunday school children have been preparing for this event for some time and it is anticipated that a large gathering will witness the performance.

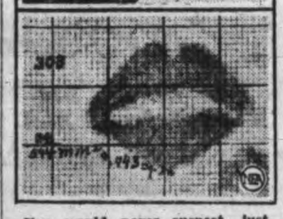
The musical part of the pageant is under the direction of Mr. H. T. Zala and will include some of the lovely well-known carols. Assisting soloists will be Miss May Zala and Mr. James Oakman, who will sing the duet parts, and Mr. Norman Maynard will sing "Nazareth" and Miss Rosiemal Parfitt, "But the Lord Is Mindful of His Own."

The dramatic part of the pageant is under the direction of Mr. Reg. Scoble; the staging in charge of Mr. Don Smith and the lighting effects in the hands of Mr. W. J. Miles.

The primary department and the juniors will also give various items previous to the pageant.

The supper and Christmas tree will be held at 6.15 o'clock in the Sunday school room for the Sunday school pupils and staff. The parents and friends are invited to the evening pageant at 7.30 o'clock.

ENOUGH LIPSTICK FOR FOUR BARNS!



You would never suspect, just watching Dorothy Lee going through her lipstick ritual, that she covers 9.68 square feet of lips in a year and that she and the other 2,874 co-eds at the University of Winconsin use enough lipstick annually to paint four good-sized barns. But that's what the test shows. The chart below shows that the average lip area is .83 square inch. With the painting process repeated thirty-two times a week, the annual territory coverage reaches the 9.68 average for each co-ed.

NRA ENDED IN UNITED STATES

Washington, Dec. 24.—The NRA, once keystone of the New Deal, was terminated yesterday by executive order of President Roosevelt.

Part of the functions of the recovery administration were transferred by the President to the Commerce Department, while others were turned over to the Labor Department.

The division of review, the division of business co-operation and the advisory council went to the Commerce Department under the act approved at the last Congress extending the NRA until April.

The consumers' division was transferred to the Labor Department and its employees will come under the Emergency Appropriation Act, which will not expire until June, 1937.

LANGFORD HAS ANNUAL CONCERT

Langford, Dec. 24.—Langford school was crowded to capacity last Friday evening when the annual concert and Christmas tree entertainment was held. Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen was chairman.

Margaret Merry opened the concert with a pianoforte solo. Carols were sung by the children. A play, entitled "The Lost Toys," was acted by the junior pupils, the following taking part: Lorna Rodgers, Phyllis Staverman, Mabel Brown, Beverley Findler, Evelyn Smith, Lois Moore, Kathleen Willard, Alice and Marie Rodgers, Jack and Ritchie Le Quesne, Glendenning Moir, Theodore Bayles, Freddie Staverman and Bobbie Brown; Vivian Jenkins's recitation, "The Christmas Card," was followed by a pageant, "Holy Night," by the Legion class pupils; a tap dance, "Wooden Shoes," was danced and sung by Patsy Brown; "The Kidnapped Child,' a Chinese play, was performed by the senior room, the following pupils taking part: Doris Buckley, Kitty Staverman, Melva Aikman, Mickey Staverman, Ada Carlow, Phyllis Moore, Mary Oneeda, Claude Heggie, George Carlow, Geoffrey Bullen, David Moir, Rodney Bayles and Norton Welch; Christmas songs were also sung by the junior room. Miss L. Peacey was accompanist. Distribution of gifts from a Christmas tree by Santa Claus Hamish Bullen, was followed by refreshments served under the auspices of the Parent-teacher Association.

Miss D. Wilkie, R.N., entertained her Little Mothers' Class and girls from Luxton, Happy Valley and Goldstream last Friday afternoon at her home on Atkins Road.

Games singing and distribution of gifts from a prettily decorated Christmas-tree made the time pass quickly. Miss L. M. A. Savory, second vice-president of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service, presented prizes to Elva Hobbs, first, and Dorothy Blenkinsop, second, for the best health posters.

Many of the girls were in fancy dress, Kathleen Willards representing a Christmas cracker, being particularly striking. The Misses Joyce Cropper and Eileen Hincks assisted the hostess with games and tea.

James Merry from Youbou is spending the holiday vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Merry at Aldermere, Millstream Road.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker, who have been spending a vacation in San Francisco, have returned to their home in Atkins Road.

Langford and Colwood A.Y.P.A. members will sing carols to-night in the district.

Ottawa to Hear "H.M.S. Pinafore"

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 24. — Following an eclipse of many years amateur operatics have been resurrected in Ottawa. This week local enthusiasts will essay one of the most alluring of Gilbert and Sullivan's melodious comedies, "H.M.S. Pinafore." This is being produced on Boxing Day, sponsored by the Little Theatre. On its results depends whether the capital's music lovers continue their activities in this line or relapse into more years of disappointed slumber.

In local circles the production is awaited with interest, for, despite the vogue of the more sophisticated types of entertainment, the romance of the old Savoy still lingers. The roles have been judiciously distributed among well-known Ottawa vocalists.

Annual Christmas Tree Held By Club

With Jack Crossman acting as Santa Claus for the sixty-five children, the Victoria West Liberal Social Club held its annual Christmas tree and social yesterday evening in the clubrooms, 414 Skinner Street.

John Gow's Punch and Judy show drew shrieks of merriment from the children.

President George Renton, president of the club, thanked the following ladies for the success they made of the affair; Mrs. J. Crossman, Mrs. F. Walters, Mrs. G. F. Randall, Mrs. F. Willis, Mrs. A. Chandley and Mrs. J. Carlow.

A social will be held for members and friends of the club on Friday evening next at 8 o'clock in the clubrooms, 414 Skinner Street.

No old-time dance will be held this Saturday.

MILK-SENSITIVE CHILD SHOULD GET PROTEINS AND VITAMINS IN SOME OTHER FORM

"My four-year-old boy has developed a rash which is steadily growing worse and is involving both face and body," Mrs. T. J. writes. "After eliminating various foods, I have discovered milk to be the sole cause. He was brought up on milk but was once very poisoned by it.

"In summer he has raw Jersey milk and in winter pasteurized Jersey. Skimming the cream did not help the rash. The doctor suggested goat's milk, which, so far, I have not been able to get here. A week without milk will clear his face, but one glass, and it is aflame again.

WHAT TO DO?

"How long is it safe to let him go without milk?

"What foods can be stressed in place of it?

"Would cod liver oil help?

"Would that one upset have caused this condition?"

So long as milk causes a rash, it is doing the child no good to take it. But advertise and try to locate a source of goat's milk near you. It often helps. Or try dried or evaporated milk consistently and note their effects. The protein rich foods which may be substituted for milk are meat, cheese, eggs and nuts. The partially complete protein foods are beans and peas and whole grain cereals such as wheat and oats.

OFFER CHEESE

Offer all these in the diet, especially cheese, as he may be able to take milk in this form, or in other foods in which the milk is cooked.

Cod liver oil furnishes both vitamin A and D, and he is deprived of vitamin A when he gets no cream. Butter furnishes a good supply but cod liver oil would be a wise addition to the diet, especially this winter.

I am inclined to think that a prolonged diet of over-rich milk has built up the child's sensitivity. Perhaps several months without milk, except in such form as can be taken without reaction, will furnish him a new immunity.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ORPHANAGE

The little inmates of the Protestant Orphanage have been working for weeks in preparation of their annual Christmas entertainment, which is to be given at the Hillside institution on Thursday and Friday evenings, December 26 and 27. Doors will be open at 7.15 o'clock, and the children anticipate a large attendance of friends at both performances.

INDIAN SCHOOL CONCERT HELD

Those assisting the teacher, Miss Morry, in entertaining the children were Mr. and Mrs. Morry, Mr. Hagan, Miss H. Hagan, Miss Nora O'Connell and Miss Betty Hall. Rev. Father Lemmens presented the Christmas gifts after a seasonable address.

The concert programme was as follows: "O Canada!"; "Welcome," Dorothy Paul; "Little Snowflakes," Rosalie Philip, Pauline Bartleman, Rosie Smith, and Alexander Smith; "A Gentle Reminder," Joseph Philip; "Christmas Children," nine pupils; "The Mousie," Manuel Cooper; songs by the juniors; "Santa's Helpers," by Ronald Paul; "Choosing the Stocking," Johnny Cooper; "A Message," Roy Paul; "Christmas Offerings from Children of Other Lands," Sara Paul, Cecilia Cooper, and Edna Henry; "Saint Nick," Carl Paul; "Christmas Remembrance," Ronald Paul; "Christmas Carols," God Save the King.

Pots and Pans Are as Good As Needles When It Comes To Making Gifts at Home

Plum puddings—and fruit cakes, too—put up in a bowl of heat resistant glass and attractively wrapped, make a Christmas gift from your kitchen that is in the true holiday spirit.

DOUGH FOR PIE CRUSTS RIVALS PLUM PUDDINGS AND FRUIT CAKES FOR GIFTS

By MARY E. DAGUE

Many a ribbon slipper-bag and embroidered pillow case have I worked over for long hours because I wanted some dear friend or relative to be remembered at Christmas with a product of my own handwork.

I still have this feeling that I want to make some of my Christmas gifts, but I turn to my kitchen these days instead of my thimble.

One of my friends wails about her soggy pie crust. To her this is really a tragedy because it's long been a custom in her husband's family to serve mince pie with mulled wine on Christmas Eve after the trimming of the tree.

PIE DOUGH FOR CHRISTMAS

So to this friend I am sending enough pie dough for two two-crust pies. Stored and chilled in a closely covered container, it is all ready to roll out and bake. And I am adding a jar or two of mince meat.

My plum puddings are good gifts, too, small-sized ones for small families and larger ones for larger families.

Boxes of cookies, baskets of candy, squares of fruit cake, jars of jelly and preserves—any special kind of food that you make and that your friends particularly like is sure to be welcome on Christmas morning.

And now I want to give you a recipe for a plum pudding that is baked. Most of them are steamed and that often presents difficulties. This pudding is baked to begin with and again put in the oven to reheat.

BAKED PLUM PUDDING

One cup finely chopped suet, 1 cup chopped apple, 1 cup molasses, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 3½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup currants, ¼ cup shredded citron, ¼ cup candied cherries, ½ cup blanched and shredded candied orange peel, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Put suet and apple through food chopper. Add sugar, molasses and milk. Mix raisins, currants, citron, cherries cut in halves, almonds and orange peel and dredge with ½ cup flour. Mix and sift remaining flour with salt, soda and spices, and add to first mixture. Add lemon juice and prepared fruit and mix thoroughly. Grease molds well and fill two-thirds full. Cover closely and bake in a slow oven (275 to 300 degrees F.) for one and one-half hours. oD not remove cover until ready to serve. Reheat in oven.

CHRISTMAS PASTRY

(One Double Crust Pie)

One and one half cups flour, 5 tablespoons lard or other shortening, 5 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, 5 tablespoons cold water.

Sift flour once and measure. Add salt. Work in lard and butter with pastry blender. Cut in water. Chill and roll on a slightly floured board. Or put pastry in a casserole with a tightly fitting cover and chill until wanted for baking.

Outdoor Decoration Most Effective When It Highlights Just One Idea

If your house has light trim, a floodlight concealed behind shrubbery will bring out that feature as above. The simple decoration, in perfect balance, was planned by marking location of the lights on a snapshot.

By MARIAN YOUNG

The hit or miss arrangement of colored Christmas lights by which householders formerly expressed goodwill to passersby is a thing of the past. Whether you plan to use ten lights or dozens of them, the arrangement ought to be concentrated on expressing a particular Christmas sentiment to the last detail.

If you wish your home and lawn to radiate serious, religious beauty, stick to stars, church bells and perhaps Child and Lamb or Manger scenes.

If you place a Manger in the centre of the yard, don't hang a modernistic Santa Claus over the doors.

If, on the other hand, you decide on a simple note of cheer to delight the neighbors' children (plain bulbs on your growing pines and a Santa Claus at the window), don't disrupt the theme by putting a religious or modern arrangement of lights in another window.

SKETCH PLAN IN DETAIL

Once you have decided on the lighting idea, work out the detailed arrangement of lights and settings before you put up a wire or attach a light bulb.

Make a rough sketch of house and lawn or, if you like, use a plain daytime snapshot. With crayons, ink or Junior's paints and brushes indicate on picture or sketch the areas you wish to decorate. Then spot in location of lamps, wreaths, candles and other decorations, keeping in mind harmony of color as well as balance and centre of interest. Incidentally, the state of your budget naturally will have some bearing on your final decision.

Remember, of course, that you can trim home and gardens beautifully and effectively at small cost. Simple strings of lights in plain yellow, green and red or blue and white will make your growing trees simply radiate good cheer. Set them off by a doorway star, gleaming with light bulbs in matching colors. Another economical Christmas decoration motif calls only for wreaths with lighted candles in every window and a larger wreath posed in the middle of the yard.

ST. NICHOLAS ON ROOF TOP

A more pretentious outdoor trimming idea uses St. Nicholas and his reindeer skittering across the house top. The sleigh, laden with packages, eight prancing deer with huge antlers and Santa himself, complete with knapsack and whiskers, are outlined with colored lights which throw beams across the paper mache characters. This by itself is effective indeed. No need to worry about the rest of the house, or the yard either.

Another handsome theme is achieved with paper mache groups which depict religious scenes. These are placed at strategic points on the lawn or, if smaller, can be used in windows. Almost as effective is a simpler pattern of lights which spells "Merry Christmas" across one side of the yard and "Good Cheer" at the other end.

"Not exactly," he said. "I remember it was out on the west side in an apartment hotel, but I didn't pay much attention to where we were going. It was off West Park boulevard somewhere, I remember."

"You didn't notice the name of the building?"

The boy shook his head unhappily "No. Gosh, I'm sorry."

"Think you'd know it again if you saw it?"

Bobby thought this over. "I might. Yes, I think I would."

"Well, there aren't so many apartment hotels out that way but what we ought to be able to find it. . . . Now, about another thing, Bobby. You say this Lewis wanted $10,000 to buy a car. I didn't know your firm had any cars that cost that much."

"We don't said Bobby. "Sixty four hundred is tops with our line. He said it was a special custom job."

Larry was silent for a moment. Then he said:

"Bobby, you'll help me all you can, won't you?"

"Lord, yes," said Bobby fervently. "Is there anything I can do?"

"I'm not sure. There just might be. You see that $10,000 car is a funny little item. It may turn out to be important."

"How?"

"Well—did you ever hear of armored cars? I don't mean like the express trucks; I mean cars that gangsters use, made out of bullet-proof steel, with bullet-proof glass in the windows, and so on.'

Bobby nodded. He looked up suddenly and asked, "You think this—"

"It might be," said Larry slowly. "Listen, Bobby, we've never yet been able to find out where those cars are made. Somebody must have a pretty elaborate sort of factory somewhere to turn them out; but wherever it is, it's pretty well concealed. All we can learn is that the most successful gangsters do manage to get them. Now there's just a chance that this $10,000 purchase of Lewis's was one of these cars. If so—he paused to let his words sink in: "If so, that means that State Auto Sales Inc., is a secret distributing point for them."

Bobby gasped, and once more murmured "Good Lord!" weakly.

"Did you ever see that car?" asked Larry.

"Not close up," said Bobby. "I remember the morning Lewis came for it. Mr. Hopkins himself took him back into the shop, and next I saw Lewis was driving away in it. It was just a big sedan; looked like any other good car as far as I could see."

Larry nodded. "They do," he said. "You could even ride in one without knowing what it was, unless you knew what to look for. The window glass is extra thick, for one thing—and the car is almost twice as heavy as the ordinary car."

There was another sidence.

"I doubt if that car would have been kept in the shop for any length of time, if it really was what we suspect," Larry went on at last. "Too many people would have been apt to notice something. I suspect that it was brought in the night before, and that no more than one or two people in the whole agency knew about it. In any case, here's what I want you to do.

"I wish you'd keep your ears open as wide as they'll go and see if you can find out anything about it. Don't make yourself conspicuous by asking questions, of course. But if you can find out about anything—anything at all, no matter how unimportant it may seem, that is at the least bit out of the ordinary—make a note of it and let me know. This may be a false trail; everything about that car may have been perfectly proper and legal; but we'll take no chances. Will you see what you can learn?"

"I certainly will," said Bobby eagerly. "I know a couple of the mechanics back in the shop pretty well. I'll see what I can pick up."

"Good. Be careful, remember. Don't let anyone notice that you're trying to find out anything. For remember—if this really is what we think it is, it would be dangerous if anyone noticed that you were growing curious."

"Trust me," said Bobby confidently.

"Now there's one thing more, before I go," said Larry. "It's about Jean."

Bobby looked at him quickly. "Montague didn't involve her in any of this bond business, did he?"

"No. But I'm worried about her How much has she been seeing of this fellow Harkins?'

Bobby shook his head slowly.

"Not very much, I don't think," he said. "She never says anything about him to me. Of course, she saw him two or three times there at the Golden Feather, but that was two weeks ago or more."

"I hope you're right. The one thing that would be worse than letting you get mixed up with this mob would be for her to become infatuated with one of its members."

Bobby's eyes grew wider.

"Oh, I don't think you need worry about that," he said hastily. "Jean and I—I mean, we're going to get married . . . at least I think we are. I mean—"

Larry smiled at him. "You mean you think she is too fond of you to become dazzled by anyone else?"

Bobby blushed. "Well, I sort of hope so, anyway," he said.

"So do I," said Larry. "For the sake of both of you."

"Is this Harkins really a gangster?" asked Bobby after a moment.

"I think he is," said Larry.

"If I can get at that hangout of theirs I ought to be able to find out definitely. But even if he isn't, he's keeping awfully bad company." He smiled. "Surely there aren't two people around town who are as trustingly innocent as you."

He let Bobby out of his car and drove back to the federal building. He had hardly entered his office when his phone rang. Agent Frank Watson was on the line.

"We located the hangout," he said. "It's in the West Park Hotel, on West Ninety-eighth Street."

"Good," said Larry. "Anybody home?"

"No. That's the trouble. They checked out an hour ago. Lewis and the girl.'

"Stay there," said Larry. "I'll be out as fast as I can get there."

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

I know a man eighty years old, who has eaten oatmeal or whole wheat for breakfast every day of his life, since babyhood. There was nothing out of the ordinary in that kind of breakfast, day after day, years ago. Oatmeal, whole wheat and farina were about all that was known for breakfast food then.

Dr. M. Fishbein

But in the last twenty years the American breakfast has changed. Now there are 190 different cereals, which have gradually invaded the field formerly held almost wholly by oatmeal, whole wheat, and farina served hot. All of them are sources of carbohydrates.

The list includes five barley preparations, twenty-nine corn products, twenty-seven oat products, fourteen rice products, sixty-eight wheat preparations, eleven wheat-bran combinations, and thirty-six miscellaneous substances.

The oats, like rice, have been modified by being virtually shot out of a "cannon." Wheat may be shredded or mixed with a variety of substances, and some of the cereals are improved by addition of ultraviolet.

Of course, all this is for people who want their carbohydrates first thing in the morning, to start the day off right. But nowadays many women and girls have reduced their breakfasts to nothing more than fruit juice and coffee, and those who are reducing strenuously may even eliminate the fruit juice.

For those who are not afraid of the carbohydrates, however, cereals are the food. But you should remember that they should be finely ground and prepared properly.

Finely ground cereals leave the stomach rapidly, and well-prepared food is more easily digested.

Furthermore, the manner in which oatmeal, for example, is cooked may greatly modify its appeal to the appetite. It may come out as a watery mixture, which can be drunk as a liquid. It may form a than gluey dish which sticks to the teeth, or it may come out in lumps, whc h have to be chewed and are hard to digest.

If properly cooked in a double boiler, the individual grains of the oatmeal are visible, and the cereal can be chewed and digested easily.

TO-DAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q.—Is there a cure for snoring?

A.—Snoring is sometimes due to a disturbance in the nasal passages, which can be corrected by treatment or operation. It would be well for the snorer to consult a physician, preferably a nose and throat specialist. In many cases, however, especially in large, freshy men, there occurs in sleep a relaxation of the muscles that close the mouth; the jaw drops and the person breathes through the mouth, thus setting in vibration the soft palate and surrounding structures in the throat. Various devices have been tried to hold the mouth closed, but they are not often successful.

Sidney

Sidney, Dec. 24. — Mrs. Herbert Bosher gave a miscellaneous shower Friday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. H. Smethurst, in honor of Miss Eva Arrowsmith, whose marriage to Mr. Ben Readings will take place on January 10. During the evening games and contests were enjoyed. The many gifts were concealed in a gaily decorated box of red and green. Supper was then served by the hostess. Among the guests were: Mesdames Arrowsmith, Readings, Sayer, Nunn, Bosher, Toomer, and Misses Florence Nunn, Eva Arrowsmith, Sybil Gush, Agnes Holmes, Victorio Mount, Grace Marshall and Annie Bosher.

A packed church enjoyed the St. Paul's United Sunday school entertainment. Recitations, songs, choruses and playlets, were put on by the scholars Later the teachers met the parents and friends in a social in the basement of the church.

An unusually fine Christmas programme was put on Thursday evening by the Sidney school pupils. The Capitol Theatre was filled to capacity enjoy the excellent chorus work, recitations and the two plays. The children were much complimented on their fine work.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

A MERRY CHRISTMAS to All!

Canada's greatest bid for a turf crown in foreign fields since the days of Sir Barton may be made next year in the second running of the Santa Anita handicap, world's richest race. Four Canadian-owned thoroughbreds have been named for the $100,000 handicap to be run at Arcadia, Calif., February 22. All the topnotch handicap performers on the continent have been nominated for the race, savored with international flavor by the entry of the Canadian-owned horses and two or three English breds.

E. F. Seagram, winner of this year's King's Plate, Canadian turf classic, nominated Stand Pat, star of his large stable. H. C. Hatch, who skyrocketed to the top in Canadian racing this year, named his recently - acquired Ariel Cross. Ted Clark, pacesetter in the event last winter, was nominated again by Dr. C. N. Mooney, and Senator Donat Raymond called upon Crofter, uncrowned king of the older Canadian-bred horses.

Whether any will start depends mostly upon their performances during the next two months and how they respond to training. Should Ariel Cross and Crofter both enter, they would run as entry as the Raymond colorbearer will be conditioned during his California campaign by Lloyd Gentry, Hatch's trainer. Of the four, Stand Pat and Crofter have appeared on Canadian tracks. Stand Pat, bought by Seagram for $3,000, responded under the expert handling of Frank Gilpin and scored a number of impressive wins that ranked him among top flight handicap performers.

The four-year-old colt by John P. Grier appeared at the open of the Canadian season at Woodbine race track and scored an easy victory in a six-furlong jaunt. He was to have made another start in the fall, but the Woodbine Special Handicap, fashioned primarily to draw Stand Pat, was declared off when Seagram refused to accept the weight. He was unable to beat A. G. Vanderbilt's Discovery in three attempts. Twice Stand Pat finished second to the Vanderbilt star. In the other race, both were beaten, but Discovery led Stand Pat to the wire.

Crofter, it was generally believed, would not start. The class of company is much better than he has met and his nomination was believed to have been a precautionary move should he show exceptional form before the big race. Running up a string of six victories this year, the five-year-old by Cudgel-Step On appeared to be the best of the older Canadian breds. He has one serious drawback, a distinct dislike for a track on the heavy side. All of his races were won on a lightning fast track and when entered in a race over a slow underfoot, he failed to run his best. One of his greatest victories was the defeat of R. S. McLaughlin's Horometer in the spring of 1934.

Unlike Crofter, Ted Clark, a front runner, is partial to a slow track. In the event last February he broke near the front in the heavy going and then sprinted into a long lead. Going through the backstretch it appeared the Chaterton-Uncle's Lassie chestnut would be caught. Like all sprinters in a distance race, he had run his race during the mile and then the horses, rated behind his energy-burning pace, came on to pass him at the stretch turn. The rise of the six-year-old from an ordinary plater to the top of the handicap division, was remarkable. Claimed at Detroit last autumn by Mooney, he was nursed along by C. A. Marone, and gradually raised in company until he was among the best.

Last year he scored seven wins, four seconds and one third, most of them after he was obtained by the Toronto doctor. This year, however, he has not fared well. In fifteen starts, he has won only three times, was second twice and third times, earning about $5,000, compared to $14,330 last year.

Ariel Cross, the youngster of the quartette is not well known in Canada, although he is owned by Hatch. Claimed last August, the three-year-old gelding by Ariel-Cross Village, only gained recognition in November with three consecutive victories. His first two starts in October under new ownership, were not outstanding. November 5 he started his string of victories in a claiming event at Arlington. He was next placed in an allowance and again sped to victory. Reaching the handicap division, he met the best in Texas and scored by a slight margin in a mile and seventy yards.

Vancouver Squads Oppose Locals In Intercity Games

McKechnie Cup Fixture and United-Rangers Matches Scheduled Boxing Day

Yuletide Plunge To-morrow Morning

Victoria's annual Christmas Day swim, staged by the V.A.S.C., will provide the cocktail to a heavier repast of soccer and rugby which will feature the Christmas season sports calendar to-morrow and Thursday. The times and places for the different events follow:

CHRISTMAS DAY

11 o'clock—Christmas swim, Inner Harbor (50 yards handicap).

2.15 o'clock—Soccer, Hudson's Bay vs. Wednesday League All-stars, Athletic Park.

BOXING DAY

2.45 o'clock—McKechnie Cup rugby, Victoria vs. Vancouver, Macdonald Park.

Entries will close for the annual Yule plunge this evening at the Crystal Garden. An odd half dozen are expected to dive into the chilly waters of the Inner Harbor for the event which annually draws hundreds to the Causeway. The event is staged over a fifty-yard course with handicaps.

One of the matches of the season is expected to-morrow afternoon when the Wednesday Soccer League All-Stars battle the Hudson's Bay. Fifty per cent of the gate receipts will be turned over to the Gyro Hamper Fund.

The teams follow:

All-Stars—McMillan, Kresges; Eastwood, Wanderers; Cann, Spencers; D. Bradley Spencers; Robinson, Navy; Hutton, Navy; Ball, Wanderers; Marr, Navy; Belford, Rangers; Bourne, Wanderers, and A. McBride, Kresges. Substitutions: Chapman, Kresges; Munroe, Spencers; Nicol, Speneers; Coates, Kresges, and Fieldhouse, Wanderers.

Any players unable to turn out are asked to communicate with Charlie Lewis at Garden 2917.

The Bays line-up will be chosen from the following: Baxter, O'Connell, Wyatt, Williamson, Kennedy, McConnell, Oakman, Barnswell, Robinson, Okell, Stevens and Stewart.

Feature of the Intercity Soccer League match between Victoria and Vancouver Rangers will be appearance of the two former local players, Harry Storey and Eddie Gibson, with the mainland eleven. Storey played with the Victoria West and Gibson performed with Victoria City. Both boys moved to Vancouver recently.

When the Victoria club steps onto the field it will be defending its position at the head of the standings. The local eleven is in first place tied with New Westminster Royals. A victory will place the United in undisputed possession of the league leadership.

Victoria will field the same club which defeated Vancouver St. Saviours 4 to 1 a couple of weeks ago.

Vancouver Rangers—Gloag, Easley, Cowan, Larson, Storey, Morley, Gibson, Jack Johnson, Mike Wilkinson, John Johnson, Dick Stobart, O'Donnell, Gray, Botto and Magill.

RUGBY

Victoria's Crimson Tide rested today in preparation for the Boxing Day clash with Vancouver in the McKechnie Cup rugby lists. High hopes were held in the local training camp that the Capital City machine, reputedly as fast and aggressive as any that has represented the city, would be able to open its campaign in defence of the coveted silverware successfully.

The game will be the only fixture in the Big Three series which will be played in Victoria. In January the Victorians will play away against Varsity.

A good crowd is expected to turn out for the fixture, which, next to the visit of the New Zealand All Blacks

Torchy Peden Arrives Home

To spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Peden, 820 Princess Avenue, Torchy Peden, Victoria's famous six-day bicycle rider, arrived home to-day. Torchy recently completed riding in a six-dayer at Buffalo partnered with Al Crossley. He finished in third position. The big redhead will remain home for the holidays, after which it is expected he will leave for the east again.

WRESTLER IS HURT BY FANS

Customers at Detroit Show Attack Nango Singh and Put Him in Hospital

Detroit, Dec. 24. — Infuriated customers at a wrestling show dragged Nango Singh, east Indian "villain" of the feature match from the ring yesterday evening and inflicted injuries which required hospital treatment.

Physicians who examined Singh said he suffered possible internal injuries from the beating. Ivan Rasputin, Singh's opponent, was detained at Canfield police station, where police said he would be held until the full extent of Singh's injuries are determined.

The disturbance began fifteen minutes after the match started, when Singh kicked Rasputin from the ring. Climbing back into the ring, Rasputin struck at his opponent, and the crowd surged over the canvas, some with chairs in their hands. Police extricated Singh after several minutes of fighting. Rasputin was held as a material witness.

T. H. Kingscote Is Golf Winner

Duncan, Dec. 24. — There were twenty-four entries for the tombstone competition staged by the Cowichan Golf Club on Sunday. T. H. Kingscote was the winner, planting his stake in the nineteen hole. Nat Staples followed closely with a shot to the nineteenth green, and Wallace Whidden with a drive off the nineteenth tee. Others taking part were Percy Chambers, E. W. Carr-Hilton, Victor Allan, Phil Jaynes, H. A. Rhodes, T. E. M. Hedley, F. Leeming, Oscar Droob, R. E. Baiss, H. R. Punnett, J. Martin, C. C. Wright, Alec Grieve, Dr. V. W. Tarlton, Colonel A. F. M. Slater, A. H. Peterson, J. L. Maitland, J. A. Prevost, N. J. Martin, N. R. Craig and Clayton Wright Jr.

GORDIE FRASER QUITS HOCKEY

Former Defence Star of Victoria Hockey Team Hangs Up His Skates

Pittsburgh, Dec. 24. — Capt. Gordon Fraser of the Pittsburgh Shamrocks hockey team hung up his stick to-day, saying he was through not only with the Shamrocks but the game as well.

The star defence man of the International League entry disclosed he notified President Ray Babcock of the club he is resigning because of dissatisfaction with conditions.

The veteran of the ice said: "I'm through with hockey. I haven't been satisfied with the way things have been going here, and I think I'll lay aside the skates and stick and go back to London, Ont., and be a spectator from now on.

Among other difficulties of the Shamrocks, says observers, is the club's inability to compete successfully with the Yellow Jackets of the Eastern Amateur League in attracting patronage. The amateurs boasting an all-star lineup of recent importations from Canada usually play before 4,000 and 5,000 fans. The last Shamrock game saw exactly 200 paid customers on hand.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

The Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial Carillon in the Riverside Church, New York, is not only the highest, largest, and heaviest of musical instruments—but it is among the loudest. So loud are its bells that Carillonneur Kamiel Lefevre, the man who plays it, has never heard his own music properly. According to Mr. Lefevre, the true effect cannot be obtained in the midst of the bells, where the clavier is located.

In the street below or in adjoining parks, away from traffic, the music of the carillon can be heard to its best advantage.

The carillon consists of seventy-two bells ranging in size from the large Bourdon bell, which weighs more than 40,000 pounds, to small tenpound bells. The clapper of the big bell alone weighs two tons. The bells themselves weigh 100 tons, and with the heavy steel supporting structure, the whole carillon weighs 240 tons—almost half a million pounds. The bells are located 400 feet above the street level.

Before the Christian world in general adopted December 25 as Christmas Day, various churches observed the holiday at different times. Inasmuch as there is no historical evidence as to the correct birthday of Christ the day was fixed arbitrarily—and has been observed at various times during the year.

HALL OF FAME FOR BASEBALL

By PAUL MICKELSON

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Such unforgettable names as Ty Cobb, Christy Mathewson, Honus Wagner, Killie Keeler, Rube Waddell and Babe Ruth supplied fuel for heated sports arguments once more to-day as the gigantic task was started to select the immortals for baseball's hall of fame.

Thirty-three of the game's brightest stars, who blazed over the diamonds from 1900 through 1935, were named as candidates for the ten positions in the hall of fame to be erected and perpetuated at Cooperstown, N.Y., birthplace of the pastime. Five of the greatest prior to 1900 also will be named later. After the first list of fifteen has been named, five additional names will be added each year.

The list was submitted for votes by Henry P. Edwards, secretary of the American League's Service Bureau. It was sent to each member of the Baseball Writers' Association of America who will vote on the immortals from 1900 to the present date.

IMPOSING LIST

Catchers—Roger Brenshan, Mickey Cochrane, Lew Criger.

Shortstop—Honus Wagner.

Outfielders—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, George Herman Ruth, Tris Speaker, Willie Keeler, Ed Delehanty, Ross Young, Edward Rousch and Al Simmons.

SHEEP-KILLING COUGAR IS SHOT

A cougar weighing 100 pounds and measuring 7 feet from tip to tip was treed by dogs and shot in the Sooke River district by Ed Irvine, 2103 Fernwood Road, yesterday.

Mr. Irvine was out scouting for a Christmas tree when he saw a mutilated carcass of a sheep. He hiked to get the Phillip brothers, well-known cougar hunters who live at Sooke, who with their three dogs set out to track the cougar.

In their search they came upon five dead sheep which the cougar had killed and not eaten. It was not long, however, before the dogs came upon him and the cougar went for a tree. Mr. Irvine shot between the eyes and killed it instantly.

Last Tuesday the Phillip brothers and their dogs killed the mother and two cubs, and it is expected that this one was the father. There is a bounty of $10 for cougars.

The sheep that were killed belonged to William Shields, Sooke.

Stevenson Leads In Riding Battle

New York, Dec. 24.—Outscoring his more experienced rival three to one, young Charley Stevenson, Boise, Idaho, left Wayne Wright, also an Idaho boy from Rexby, far behind in his quest for 1935 riding honors on the United States turf.

Stevenson's triple at the Fair Grounds gave the nineteen-year-old apprentice a total of 192 victories since January 1. Wright's lone victory at Tropical Park, his first since last Wednesday, boosted his total for the year to 187.

M.C.C. PLAYS CANTERBURY

Christchurch, N.Z., Dec. 24.—The touring Marylebone Cricket Club team to-day started a three-day match against Canterbury. Winning the toss the home players compiled 243 runs and when play was adjourned for the day M.C.C. had made 108 for four wickets.

CLINT SMITH FAR IN LEAD

Vancouver Centre Has Eight-point Lead Over Northwest Hockey League Scorers

Calgary, Dec. 24.—Vancouver Lions took more than half the points on their swing around the prairie end of the Northern Hockey League last week, scored fourteen goals in the four games and gave big boosts to their goal and assist totals.

Clint Smith, centre of Lions' first string, added six points during the trip to shoot his total up to ten goals, fourteen assists, twenty-four points. He was far ahead of the second man, Brian Hextall, his left-wing mate, whose total was 14-2—16.

Charlie O'Neill, captain of Guy Patrick's squad, returned to action after a two-week lay-off due to an injured leg and lost little time sending his total up to 7-7—14, a gain of six points in the four games.

Cam Proudlock, fiery wingman of Seattle Sea Hawks, slammed his way back to the top of the penalty servers. His total of thirty-six minutes was two minutes ahead of Gordon McFarlane, Calgary.

AUSTRALIAN CRICKET

Melbourne, Australia, Dec. 24.—Batting all day against New South Wales, Victoria scored 253 runs for six wickets in a cricket match started here to-day.

Rankine Is Voted Greatest Athlete

By ELMER DULMAGE

Toronto, Dec. 24.—The little men of sport, traditional victims in the everlasting warfare with big men, held a signal victory to-day with Robert (Scotty) Rankine, Preston, Ont., and Fritz Hanson, Winnipeg, bracketed as 1935's greatest male athletes in Canada.

Rankine, winner in the fourth annual Canadian Press year-end poll of sports writers, is a little fellow. He is the latest of a long line of internationally famous Canadian distance runners. His successes in Canada and the United States this year were phenomenal and uninterrupted.

Hanson, the ghost with the gold helmet, is even smaller than Rankine. Among the big men of football, he established himself all in a day as the greatest running halfback since Lionel Conacher by running the ball 350 yards or more against Hamilton Tigers in the first intersectional gridiron final to be won by the west.

These were the year's headliners, in the view of critics who looked back over the twelve months' span before writing their choices. Charlie Conacher, Toronto right winger and leading scorer of the National Hockey League, was ranked third and Sammy Richardson, seventeen-year-old Toronto track star, fourth.

THIRD TO WIN

Rankine, whose most important victories were in the Canadian ten-mile championship and the Berwick, Pa., marathon, is the third distance runner honored in the year-end poll in three years. Dave Komonen, Sudbury, Ont., marathoner, won in 1933 and Harold Webster, Hamilton, British Empire marathon champion, topped the list last year.

Not yet a marathoner, Rankine has beaten off the opposition up to fifteen miles with ease. He scored points for Canada at the 1934 Empire Games in London at three and six miles, and he is expected to go to the Olympic Games next year in Germany as a full-fledged marathon star.

But for all his great record on the highways, Rankine barely beat the dazzling Hanson to the tape in the voting. First, second and third-place choices were valued on the 3-2-1 basis, Rankine's total being 38 and Hanson's 32. Conacher compiled 21 and Richardson 16.

December 7 was Hanson's day. The tiny, blond North Dakota State halfback came, relatively unheralded, out of the west that day and thrilled a crowd of 9,000 at Hamilton with the year's greatest demonstration of football magic. In one afternoon he became the most talked-of athlete in the country.

His seventy-five-yard run for a touchdown against the Tigers, climaxing his show, brought him headlines and adulation. The shoes he wore will bring $100 or more for charity at Winnipeg. As a national sports hero—if only for a day—Hanson nearly stole the glory of 1935 that was Rankine's.

Grey Cup Finally Reaches Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Dec. 24.—The Grey Cup came to Winnipeg yesterday and rests in the suite of Joe Ryan, manager of Winnipegs, Canadian rugby football champions.

Winnipegs won the trophy by defeating Hamilton Tigers 18 to 12 to give western Canada its first Dominion rugby football title.

Joe received the trophy and it's going to stay parked in his suite because, as some of the players put it, he was responsible for gathering the team that won it. And, besides, the Winnipeg Rugby Club is without club rooms.

SANTA ANITA RACING OPENS

Fifty-eight-day Meeting Starts To-morrow; Over 1,000 Horses Present

Los Angeles, Dec. 24.—Santa Anita, Southern California's winter haven of horse racing, opens its doors to-morrow to thousands of the ever faithful.

Among them will be the socially smart set; Hollywood's movie stars, headed by Clark Gable and Mae West and the folks who just take a chance now and then on a $2 ticket.

More than 1,000 horses already are in the Arcadia barns, with eighty-two nominated for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap on February 22.

LOCAL CLUB WINS BANNER

Victoria Motorcycle Club Awarded Prize as Best Outfit on Continent

The Victoria Motorcycle Club this morning were advised that they had taken top honors in the quarterly contest which the American Motorcycle Association conducts among all clubs in the United States and Canada.

In other words the Victoria Motorcycle Club has the honor of being judged the most outstanding club on the North American continent. The A.M.A base their decision on the activity of the various clubs, the promotion of good events and the fine work of promoting favorable public opinion of the sport.

As a result of winning the contest the local organization will be presented with a beautiful banner, worked in the club's colors of blue and white.

Bob Shanks stated this morning that the award was a fine Christmas present.

Norm Locking Is Send to London

London, Ont., Dec. 24.—Norman Locking, young forward of Chicago Black Hawks, is being sent on loan to London Tecumsehs and will play his first game with the Tecs in Detroit Thursday night. Clem Loughlin, former manager of the Tecumsehs, who is now handling the Hawks of the National League, confirmed arrangements yesterday.

Smart Seattle Cage Squad Will Battle Dominoes On Saturday

Visitors Boast Line-up of Big Fast Performers

Victoria Club Will Have Little Advantage Against Crack Willoughby Cleaners

SEATTLE ROSTER IS ANNOUNCED

Victoria's lofty Dominoes, who used youth, height and speed to win a couple of Canadian championships when they operated under another name, will be up against a team boasting those same qualities when they meet Willoughby Cleaners, Seattle, in an exhibition game at the High School gym on Saturday evening.

The feature will follow two preliminaries the first of which will start at 7.15 o'clock.

The Cleaners have taken the measure of the Edmonds Athletic Club 49 to 25 and the latter outfit has set back the Italian Athletic Club, rated locally as one of the classiest teams that have appeared on a Victoria floor.

Apart from a couple of "shorties" who stand only about five feet seven, the team has a strong fighting line-up of six footers.

Jack O'Neil, tip-off man, reaches six feet four from toes to thatch. He has been playing fieldhouse basketball for five seasons, although he is only eighteen now. Last year he played for the West Seattle High School quintette and gained a place on the All-City team.

According to reports O'Neil handles his size exceptionally well, is a good floor man, a fine "feeder" and a dead shot. He should give Art Chapman lots of opposition on the pivot

SMART GUARD

Another boy who may spell bad luck to the lanky local centre is Israel Halfon, clown and wicked check. He is twenty-one and well set up. He played here with the De Molay team two seasons ago and netted ten points for himself while holding Chapman to a single field basket. Halfon was an All-City guard for Garfield High in 1932 and 1933 and was also captain of the team.

Dale Case, who will team with Halfon on the defence, is another rangy boy, standing six foot one. Eighteen years old now, he played as a freshman on a Seattle Junior High team which won the championship of its division. He has played two years at Franklin High and was a unanimous selection of the all-city squad both years. Among other laurels, he holds the all-city scoring championship of 155 points in a twelve-game schedule. He shoots, checks and covers the floor with equal ability.

Al Franco, nineteen, who may start as forward, opened his basketball career at the ago of fifteen as a member of the Garfield High School squad in 1931 and 1932. He has played regularly for the De Molay but has not yet been seen on a local floor.

Franco is another of the team's midgets, being only five feet nine inches. He is the fastest man on the team and excellent dribbler and passer and a fair shot.

HUSKY FORWARD

Gordie Waldo, eighteen-year-old forward, is another six footer and packs 180 pounds with his height. Slower than his team mates, he is a good shot, having dropped in 122 points in a twelve-game schedule for Broadway High in the Seattle league last year.

Harry "Askie" Kessler will probably get the call to start as forward with Waldo. In the Fieldhouse league he set a mark of 210 points for eleven games. He has consistently ranked as one of the best scorers in the different leagues in which he has played. At present he captains the Garfield varsity team. He stands five feet seven and weighs 150. Kessler is one of the kids of the team, being only seventeen years old.

Abe Aaron, one of the veterans on the squad, has been playing ball for eight years, three of which he spent with Garfield High before turning to independents. A fair shot, he is noted for his floor work, team play and checking.

LOCALS READY

The squad should give the Dominoes one of the best games they have had to date this season. So far the locals have clicked fairly well and should be near the top of their form when they take on the Cleaners.

Dave Nicol will use his regular starting line-up with Art Chapman at centre, and Albert "Red" Martin and "Porky" Andrews playing forward. Chuck Chapman and Doug Peden will open as guards.

Jack Mortishaw, Alex McKeachie, Axel Kinnear and Ollie Goldsmith will be ready for relief duty.

Levinsky Loses His Dancer Wife

Mrs. Roxanna Glickman Krakon, who says she is a fan dancer looking for a place to wave her fans, was granted an uncontested divorce on a charge of cruelty. Judge Philip Finnigan granted the decree after the dancer testified the Kingfish won two bouts from her. She waived alimony and was granted permission to resume her maiden name.

Hartlepool Win Replay Football

Newcastle, Eng., Dec. 24.—Ramming home three goals in overtime play Hartlepools United emerged victorious 4to 1 in the second replay in the second round English Football Cup match with Halifax Town yesterday. The game was played on Newcastle United's ground. The winners now meet Grimbsy Town in the third round of the competition.

AMATEUR WINS GOLF TOURNEY

Glendale, Calif., Dec. 24.—Pat Abbott, public links amateur who does bit work in motion pictures, demonstrated that he can make a golf ball talk yesterday when he won the Southern California open championship from an impressive field with a total of 281 strokes for seventy-two holes.

While the two-handicap simon-pure player from Altodena, Calif., was winning a large piece of silverware and the crown, Willie Goggin, rugged San Francisco professional, came along behind him with a score of 283 to win top cash prize of $750.

Tied for third place, four strokes back of Abbott, came Macdonald Smith, veteran Carnoustie Scotsman, and Harold McSpaden, leading money winner of last season's California golf tours, with totals of 284. They earned $425 each.

SHEEP-KILLING COUGAR SHOT

Cougar shot Sunday afternoon by Ed Irvine, Fernwood Road, in the Sooke River district. The Phillip Brothers' dogs of Sooke treed the cat and Mr. Irvine shot it between the eyes. Five recently killed sheep for which it was believed responsible were found by the hunter. It is thought the cougar was the mate of the female and two cubs killed last Tuesday by the Phillip Brothers. The dead cat was hanging outside of McDowell and Mann's store on the corner of Douglas and Broughton Streets yesterday morning when the picture was taken. It measured seven feet.

Buzz Boll Now Scoring Threat

Former Utility Member of Toronto Maple Leafs Boasts Eleven Points in National Hockey League and Threatens Leaders; Paul Thompson, Chicago, Still Ahead

Montreal, Dec. 24.—Toronto Maple Leafs, who have provided the main scoring punch in the National Hockey League for many a season, are keeping their record clean again this year. One of their players, Buzz Boll, looms as a threat for scoring supremacy. Used in a utility role most of last season, he is now one of the main dynamos of the Leaf machine.

According to league scoring statistics released yesterday evening, Boll jumped his total to five goals and six assists, eleven points, by tallying twice and gaining two assists during the week. He rests only four points behind Paul Thompson, Chicago, leader of the whole league. The veteran Thompson scored once to gain a tie with Toronto's Nick Metz for goals scored, each with nine.

LEAFS DOMINATE

Leaf bombers continued to hold command over international division snipers. Big Charlie Conacher broke a long scoreless streak against New York Americans, Saturday night, with a goal to jump his total to 7-6—13. It was his only scoring point of the week.

Harvey Jackson was right behind, with 6-6—12, a point ahead of Nick Metz, Bill Thoms and Buzz Boll. The best, Sweeney Schriner, New York American star, could do was an assist and his record was held to 7-3—10.

In second place in the United States division the two veteran New York Ranger snipers, Cecil Dillon and Frank Boucher, were locked with twelve points. Dillon had seven goals and five assists, and Boucher four goals and eight assists.

Bombers of United States section teams couldn't do much in the way of scoring during the week, and there were few changes in the point totals. Herbie Lewis, Detroit speedster, gave the best performance, with two goals, to hop from seventh to fourth place at 5-6—11.

HORNER BAD MAN

Red Horner, the Toronto bruiser, wasn't even threatened for the title of "Bad Man." He drew nine minutes in penalties to boost his total to fifty-nine minutes. Red Dutton, America, and Allan Shields, Montreal Maroons, were his closest rivals, each with thirty-two minutes on the penalty bench.

Lester Weber Is Signed By Seattle

Seattle, Dec. 24.—William H. Klepper, president of the Seattle Baseball Club, arriving home yesterday from a baseball visit to California, said he had signed Lester Weber, giant young pitcher of Santa Maria.

To get Weber, Klepper said he also had to sign the hurler's buddy, Charlie Correl, Orcutt, Calif., a left-handed first baseman.

After training with the Indians last season, Weber played most of the summer in a Canadian semi-pro league with Edmonton. He lost his first two games and then won eighteen straight. Included in the string were two no-hit games.

Port Arthur Cats Win Practice Game

Port Arthur, Ont., Dec. 24. — The augmented Port Arthur Bear Cats yesterday evening defeated a team selected largely from junior teams 5 to 1 in their first game in preparation for defending Canada's Olympic honors.

Bear Cats, augmented with four Halifax and two Montreal players for their Olympic Games, showed smart combination play and good form.

CHIVALRY IN COURT; FINE $100

Associated Press

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McGinty—she with a discolored eye—were complaining witnesses.

"I'm too chivalrous to hit a woman," protested Stanley. "But if she said I did, I'm too much of a gentleman to contradict her."

He was fined $100.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

There will be no classes at the "Y" over the two holidays this week, Christmas and Boxing Day. On Friday evening the Senior Business men are scheduled to take part in a volleyball tournament with the other senior classes and the junior business men. Both courts in the gymnasium will be used.

PLENTY OF TURKEYS

Kansas City, Dec. 24 (Associated Press).—Nine tons of turkeys—1,800 birds—were given to employees by the Sheffield Steel Corporation today for Christmas dinners—and hash thereafter.

Ada, Okla., Dec. 24 (Associated Press).—A man here selected an overcoat and in the absence of a busy clerk departed, leaving his old coat instead. In it was found his name and address.

REACH ACCORD ON CITY GRANT

Doctors Accept City Terms For Care of Indigent During January and February

Acceptance of temporary terms, unofficially reached by members of the Victoria Medical Society and the City Council, covering the city's grants for January and February to the society for care of relief cases, was announced to-day by Mayor David Leeming.

The acceptance of terms means the city will pay the society 500 a month for January and February for the care of indigent. Before the end of February the city will meet the society with a view to establishing definite terms.

"It was distinctly understood," Mayor Leeming said, "that the figure for January and February will not be accepted as a basis by either party for continuous operation."

Mayor Leeming said Dr. Miller had informed him the society was always prepared to deal in a spirit of compromise with the city.

The mayor expresed regret over misunderstandings which had arisen over the question of medical care for the relief cases and for any statements made which would put the doctors in an unfavorable light.

AGED CHINESE ENTERTAINED

Christmas Party Staged For Thirty Men Over Seventy Years of Age

Steaming bowls of chow mein rice, chopped chicken, pork, bean-sprout, noodles and soy, eaten with chopsticks. Then sandwiches, cakes, tea, coffee, oranges sweets.

Such was the bill-of-fare at one of the most appreciated parties of the Christmas seasop. It was arranged yesterday evening by Mrs. R. B. Mosher at the Good Hope Mission Hall, Johnson Street. The guests were thirty Chinese ranging in age from seventy to eighty-five years, most of them old pensioners who had had life eased for them during the early years of the depression by Mrs. Mosher when she ran the relief rooms for indigent.

There were no late comers to this party. The elderly Chinese began arriving an hour before the party was scheduled to begin. They wanted to be sure of not missing anything. Mrs. Mosher welcomed each one with a handshake. They all remembered her from the days of the relief dining hall. Then Rev. Clarence Lee, pastor of the Anglican Chinese Mission, threw Christmas pictures on the screen and explained them in Chinese. Then the steaming bowls of Chinese food, served as the Chinese like them, were brought over from a nearby Chinese restaurant, and the party was on in earnest.

Each of the old Chinese came pu to Mrs. Mosher to stammer out his appreciation in broken English, and say that no white persons had shown any interest in them since she had left Chinatown after the closing of her kitchen. Then came the party surprises for them. Each departing guest was presented with a two-pound bag of mixed candies, sweet biscuit, apples, oranges and finally a package or cigarettes tied with red Christmas ribbon. Many of the old Chinese hands trembled with excitement as they received this last unexpected gift.

Assisting Mrs. Mosher in serving the dinner and staging the whole affair were Lim Jack Keen, who was her right-hand man when she operated the relief kitchen; Mrs. Field, Mrs. H. P. Luxton, Mrs. Miles Harrison, Miss Vera Pimlott, Miss Margaret Hanna and Archie McCorkindale.

After the Chinese had left, thirty-five white men were brought in and fed. They were also entertained with carol singing under Mr. McCorkindale.

A profusion of beautiful floral tributes was received. The following acted as pallbearers: Arthur Lee, Alex Semple, Allan Dennison, H. A. Smith, A. G. Clyde, Capt. J. C. Foote and A. B. McNaughton. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

CITY POLICE WIN IN SHOOT

Take First Place in Match For .38 Calibre Revolvers in Northwest

Members of the Victoria city police revolver team were successful in capturing first place honor in the match for teams using .38 calibre revolvers, during the recent Western Indoor Pistol and Revolver League shoot, according to the results which have been received here.

Five members of the team, whose scores were included in the total, will receive medals from the league.

The annual dinner of the league was held over the week-end in Seattle and was attended by Detective Inspector J. A. McLellan, captain of the team, and local league representative, and Claude L. Harrison, vice-president of the league.

Those taking part in the shoot here were Inspector McLellan, Detective J. H. Rogers, Constables A. Phipps and S. Dunnell, Miss Margaret Walker, Detective Henry Jarvis and Constables F. R. Woolsey, N. G. Griffiths, A. H. Rudge, M. Wilkinson and S. McKenzie.

Twenty-four teams competed in the match.

TRADE PLAN TO GO TO HOUSE

Legislation on New Government Branch at Next Session

Premier Pattullo said this morning legislation would be brought down by the government at the next session covering the creation of a provincial department of trade and commerce.

The Premier announced yesterday evening that it was the government's intention to form the new department whose chief function will be to co-operate with the Ottawa department of the same name and to push for new markets in peculiarly B.C. products.

Asked if he would take the new portfolio himself, the Premier said he was not ready to make any statement yet on that point. He also declined to indicate yet whether Dr. W. A. Carrothers, who has been carrying on trade investigation for the government as head of the Economic Council, would take over the staff work for the proposed department.

POPE VOICES PEACE HOPES

With Italo-Ethiopian Clash Unsettled, Pontiff Expresses Wish For Progress

By JOHN EVANS
Associated Press Foreign Staff

He told thirty-four cardinals who brought him Christmas greetings that "we have not abandoned hope," but that these are "moments darkened by melancholy, menacing clouds and human bloodshed."

His Holiness told the prelates:

"These are days of the gravest preoccupation, holding the world in painful and tormenting suspense. We truly wish to find and to make a beneficial contribution to all these sad and complex problems.

"Until now, we had hoped to bring to-day, in this beautiful hour serene, a reassuring word.

"Our hope has not been fulfilled.

"This is not to say we have abandoned hope. We cannot, and that is a happy situation for hope maintained even in the worst hypothesis, because for us hope is a duty and is deeply embedded in Christian life."

In an unannounced encyclical on "Priesthood," the Pope also counseled the clergy to be "healthily modern."

The priest, the encyclical said, is "another Christ" and must have a thorough grasp of sacred learning, but also "must be graced by no less knowledge and culture than is usual among the well-bred, well-educated people of his day."

"Y" DINNER LAST NIGHT

Dormitory Men of Y.M.C.A. Enjoy Christmas Banquet and Musical Programme

Dormitory men, members and directors of the Y.M.C.A. enjoyed the institution's Christmas dinner and entertainment last night in the "Y" cafeteria, joining in a programme of carols and Christmas music following the banquet.

At the conclusion of the dinner, Miss Peggy Horne, retiring office secretary, was presented with a library lamp by W. T. Straith on behalf of the board of directors. Miss Horne, who has held the position of office secretary for five years, also received a gift from the house staff, which was presented by Walter Baxter, chief engineer.

Roast turkey, cream carrots, sprouts and mashed potatoes constituted the main course of the dinner, with plum pudding and sauce for dessert.

Vivian Shoemaker, boys' work secretary, opened the evening's entertainment with a number of piano selections. Dinner followed at which Rev. W. H. Cassap said grace. The carol singing was lead by Frank Paulding and seasonable addresses were made by Mr. Straith and Rev. G. A. Reynolds, after which those assembled enjoyed an hour of musical entertainment.

SAANICH FUND DRIVE SUCCESS

Cash Objective of $2,000 Is Attained, and Hampers Are Sent Into Many Homes

The Sanich Welfare Association Hamper Fund's drive to bring Christmas happiness into needy homes of the municipality has gone definitely over the top. Reeve William Crouch announced this morning.

The drive has attained its objective of $2,000 in cash, and already 400 hampers have been sent out, and others are ready to follow them today.

More fortunate residents of Saanich and other areas responded generously with gifts of cash and goods to bring the spirit of Christmas good cheer into the homes of their less lucky neighbors, and there is no home in the municipality which will not be able to enjoy a real Christmas dinner to-morrow.

The ladies of the Saanich Welfare Association have given unstintingly of their time and effort to the campaign, and have received valuable assistance from many volunteer workers.

Reeve Crouch personally directed the campaign.

Ganges

Ganges, Dec. 24.—Pupils of the Ganges public school held their annual Christmas party and supper in the Mahon Hall last Thursday evening. Those in charge of supper were: Mesdames Norman W. West, R. Young, J. Anderson, G. J. Mouat, W. L. Rogers, A. Cartwright and C. W. Baker.

The children gave a programme of Christmas carols and other songs, led by the principal, N. W. West, with Miss Edith Mohrman at the piano.

Santa, impersonated by Walter Jansen, was greeted with cheers. Gifts were presented. Games were played, Mrs. J. D. Reid supplying the musical accompaniment. Later in the evening, dancing by seniors and parents was enjoyed, Mr. A. J. Eaton presiding at the piano.

Central Settlement school held its annual Christmas entertainment and dance in the Central Hall last Wednesday evening. The programme included a playlet, "The Quack Doctor," presented by Geoffrey Burkitt, Ronnie Hoole, Billy Hele, Isabelle Fyvie and Ruth Goodrich.

Another item was an amusing playlet, written by Mrs. Neil McElroy, called "The Little People's Play." Those taking part included Beverly Smith, Billy Whimms, B. St. Denis, Kenneth Stevens, Yvonne Mearns, Violet Hele, and Leslie Smith. Four Japanese scholars performed a fan dance.

Father Christmas, in the person of D. Tweedhope, distributed gifts. After refreshments, the floor was cleared for dancing.

A short meeting of the Salt Spring Island branch of the A.Y.P.A. was held in the social clubroom, Miss Phyllis Beech presiding. It was arranged to hold an executive meeting January 7 to plan a programme for the social on January 14.

ALL TO SEEK SEATS AGAIN

Retiring Esquimalt Councillors Contest Election on Joint Ticket

Retiring members of the Esquimalt council will contest the January municipal elections in a united front in support of the present administration, Reeve Alexander Lockley announced last night.

Reeve Lockley and Councillors David A. Henry, Thomas Hadfield and Philip S. Going will seek re-election on a united platform, based on the policy which the council has upheld in Esquimalt during the last year.

A surprise in the election set-up came following last night's council meeting when Councillor Albert Heald announced that he would seek election to the municipal police commission.

Reeve Lockley has announced that Commissioner S. R. Bowden will also contest the police commission seat.

Major A. A. Warder, Mrs. Jessie McFarlane and Reeve Lockley will all seek return to the municipal school board.

The Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association recently nominated candidates for all vacancies except the reeveship and one school board seat.

A single nominee for these two positions will be selected by the association at the beginning of next month.

"Mutiny on Bounty" To Open To-morrow

"Mutiny on the Bounty," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's great sea picture that comes to the Capitol to-morrow, carries one away with the sheer intensity of its drama. Although a historical romance, wrung from the actual records of the British Admiralty, it is far more absorbing than pure fiction.

It is a superb achievement in motion pictures, a historical picture as it should be and one that will live for years to come as one of the most exciting sea tales ever screened.

The picture is the true story of the voyage of H.M.S. Bounty 150 years ago, on a scientific expedition to the South Seas. It tells of the tyranny of a brutal captain who drove his crew to mutiny, of the life and loves of the sailors in a tropical paradise and the dogged pursuit of Captain Bligh for the men who had fed him to the wrath of the sea by casting him adrift in an open boat.

ECHO ANSWERED "O.K."

A police constable giving evidence at Wrexham Police Court said that when he told a youth accused of riding a bicycle without a light that he would be reported, he simply replied "O.K."

When served with a summons he again said "O.K."

The Mayor—What did you say—I said "O.K.," too.

The youth asked for a week to pay a fine of 5s., and the mayor replied, "O.K."

There was laughter in court.

IN "MUTINY ON THE BOUNTY"

Clark Gable and Charles Laughton, who have two of the leading roles in "Mutiny on the Bounty," which will open at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

"PANTO" HERE AT WEEK-END

A number of novel choruses have been arranged for the pantomime, "Dick Whittington and His Cat." The bags of gold which Popeye and Wimpy bring back from their expedition to the Island of Gambooge are most effective, as also is the chorus of sailorettes they take with them on their trip, to say nothing of the six Christmas crackers who look as if they had just stepped out of their box and do a "cracking" good tap dance.

A great deal of time and money has been taken over the costuming of the entire production. The principal characters, Dick Whittington and Alice Fitzwarren (played by Doreen Wilson and Isobel Benson respectively) will wear the authentic dresses of the fourteenth century, as will all the large choruses.

The important role of the Cat (played by Ian Gibson), which will be a noble beast in a new winter coat and newly-trimmed whiskers, thanks to the capable hands of Mr. Hobday, who is already known for his clever masks of Minnie and Micky Mouse and the Three Little Pigs.

Those who do not want to be disappointed are advised to book their seats early as already a large number of seats have been booked. Seats are on sale and can be reserved at the Empire Theatre on Thursday, between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. and on Friday between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. and 5 p.m.

The matinee on December 28 will begin at 2.30 at the Empire Theatre and the evening performances on December 27 and 28 at 8 p.m.

PAUL LUKAS AT DOMINION

"The Three Musketeers," From A. Dumas's Immortal Story, Now Showing Here

Reliving the blazing careers of three of France's greatest swordsmen, Onslow Stevens, Moroni Olsen and Paul Lukas add color and action to RKO Radio's current film version of Alexandre Dumas' immortal story of "The Three Musketeers," now being shown at the Dominion Theatre.

Fine actors all, they portray the roles, respectively, of Aramis, Porthos and Athos. Although the dominating figure of the colorful 17th century story is the hot-blooded d'Artagnan, played by Walter Abel, his Musketeer companions add the swashbuckling, roistering dash so essential to proper presentation of the Dumas classic.

Although Dumas wrote his tale as fiction, the men pictured as the three musketeers were once actual figures in the life of France. Athos was a Bearnese gentleman named Armand de Sillegue d'Athos, Porthos was an adventurer from Pau named Isaac de Portau and Aramis was Henri d'Aramitz, a squire and lay abbot of Bearn.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Clark Gable grinned when he learned, via a dispatch from New York, that clothiers had named him the best-dressed man of our day.

For Clark received the news on location in sub-zero Mt. Baker, Washington, during the filming of 20th Century's screen version of Jack London's "Call of the Wild," which comes to the Playhouse Theatre to-day, and at the moment, the handsome star was arrayed in a frayed pair of nondescript trousers, a five-dollar Mackinaw—and a three weeks' growth of beard.

All of which called for considerable kidding from Loretta Young and Jack Oakie, who are featured in Clark's support in this Darryl Zanuck production for release through United Artists.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

In recent films, Bill Boyd has been seen as a cowboy, sailor, soldier, railroad engineer, aviator, policeman, fireman and motion picture stunt man. A husky six-footer with wavy blonde hair, Bill appeals to men and women, as well as children. As a two-fisted he-man scrapper, he makes a big hit with the men and the youngsters, and women like the way he makes love. In Winchester's latest action drama, "Racing Luck," being shown at the Columbia, Bill is seen as a hard-hitting owner of race horses.

"In Old Kentucky" For Midnight Show

All of the romance, the rich down-to-earth humor and kindliness that mark Will Rogers's performances have been captured in the picture which marks the climax of the great star's career, "In Old Kentucky," at the Capitol Theatre midnight on Christmas.

Adapted and modernized from Charles T. Dazey's play—for thirty years America's favorite—"In Old Kentucky" presents Rogers as a philosophical, humorous horse trainer who breeds colts into champions and smooths the course of love for youngsters in the sunny south.

The plot of this colorful romance revolves about the rivalry between two feuding Kentucky families, both anxious to produce champion horses

"Drake of England" To Open Next Week

In "Drake of England," which will open as a New Year's Eve feature and run for four days at the Empire Theatre, B.I.P. have taken full advantage of the picturesque styles of dress then in vogue.

Jane Baxter, as Elizabeth Sydenham, the charming girl who afterwards became Lady Drake, wear some beautiful and authentically-reproduced Elizabeth creations. One gown of pale green velvet has pink organdie petal frills at neck and sleeves, with pink organdie sleeves. The organdie flowers are trimmed with pearls which match the girdle and headdress.

BOXING DAY WILL MARK INAUGURATION OF A NEW DEAL IN ENTERTAINMENT AT THE LITTLE ORPHEUM THEATRE FOR 1936!

Better than ever with new perfect sound, comfortably warm, properly ventilated, after being closed for the first three days of last week for general alterations, THE LITTLE ORPHEUM THEATRE, on Government Street, has arranged a special Boxing Day programme, consisting of two fascinating pictures. Our attraction, with Ginger Rogers and William Powell in the picture "Star of Midnight," will amaze, amuse and thrill you. Attraction No. 2, with Irene Dunn and John Boles, in the picture "The Age of Innocence," is rated the most moving story of modern literature. ***

Five-year Peaks Recorded To-day On Wall St. Lists

New York, Dec. 24.—Yuletide apathy ruled to-day's stock market session, but selective buying lifted a number of issues to new five-year peaks.

Another decline in world silver prices did not help the mines, especially, although few of these displayed any pronounced weakness. Steels exhibited strength in the final hour.

Commodities were irregular.

Shares up 1 to 2 points of so included General Motors, Liggett & Myers B, American Tobacco B, American Can, Crown Cork, Owens-Illinois, Borg Warner, Foster-Wheeler, Continental Baking B, Northern Pacific, U.S. Steel, Alleghany Steel, Bethlehem, American Machine & Foundry and American Steel Foundry.

Standard Brands was one of the most active stocks with a fractional advance. Douglas Aircraft made a "new high," and Sperry, Boeing and North American Aviation improved. Cerro de Pasco, U. S. Smelting and Howe Sound were lower.

(By H. A. Humber Ltd.)

Thirty industrials—141.52, up 0.94.

Toronto, Dec. 24.—The mining market of the Toronto exchange held steady in slow trading in winding up the pre-Christmas period with a short session to-day.

Gainers in the base metals included Noranda, Waite Amulet, Sherritt, Base Metals Corporation and Pend Oreille. The latter was up about 8 cents and Noranda firmed ¼.

Castle was the outstanding strong spot in the silvers, gaining 5 cents to close at 1.20. Among medium-priced golds Buffalo-Ankerite, Central Patricia, Canadian Malartic and Pickle Crow were the heaviest traders and these were unchanged to slightly higher.

San Antonio weakened to $3, and Macassa was off a few cents. Little Long Lac turned over in quantity while holding steady around 6.50 to 6.60.

Senior golds were quiet and little changed. Hollinger at 13.90 was up 10 cents. Bralorne weakened slightly and Wright Hargreaves at 7.75 lost a few cents.

FEW CHANGES AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press

Montreal, Dec. 24.—The Christmas spirit gripped traders on the Montreal stock exchange in to-day's short session and tickers moved at a slow pace while miles of ticker tape saved up for the last year was hurled across the floor by joyous workers.

As a result only a few price changes were recorded and no definite trend was established. Dominion Bridge came in for some buying to show a gain of ¾ at 32½ while Bathurst Paper rose ½ at 11 and Noranda ⅛ at 44¾. International Nickel and a few more showed narrow gains.

On the other hand Dominion Textile preferred sold down 5 points at 145. St. Lawrence Corporation preferred was off 5 cents at 1.80 and Shawinigan and a few more displayed minor fractional losses. Brazilian Traction, National Breweries, Montreal Power and a large group of others remained unchanged.

Chicago December Wheat Future At New Season Peak

Associated Press

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Indications of something akin to a squeeze in Chicago wheat contracts became evident late to-day and December quotations rose to a new season peak premium.

Offerings of wheat here available for delivery on December contracts were so limited to-day that some observers expressed belief a virtual market "corner" existed. Later deliveries of wheat than December, however, were seemingly unaffected.

Wheat closed unsettled, ¾ cents off to 1⅛ advanced compared with yesterday's finish, May 99⅛ to 99¼, corn ⅛ to ½ down, May 59⅜ to 59½, oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, and provisions at 10 cents gain.

Winnipeg, Dec. 24.—In the grip of pre-holiday market lethargy, wheat prices held steady at fractionally lower levels on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Values closed ⅜ cent lower to unchanged, December at 84⅝, May 88⅛ to 88¼, and July 88½ cents.

Trading in the pit was restricted to occasional routine buying or selling orders and throughout most of the listless session the trading floor was deserted. Export sales were at a minimum. Liverpool closed ½d lower to ¼d higher, while Buenos Aires closed unchanged to ⅛ cent advanced. Chicago was irregular.

Spreads were about unchanged in cash and coarse grains.

Vancouver, Dec. 24.—Vidette turned strong in the short session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day, the price coming out for a jump of 10 cents at 72.

Bralorne was stronger, the price gaining five cents at $5.40. The market was generally improved, all sections of the board coming out for small advances.

Turnover, however, continued small, volume at the end of the session standing at little over 50,000 shares.

Big Missouri was up two cents at 66, while B.C. Nickel was unchanged at 19. Pend Oreille was firmer, advancing two cents at $1. Wayside gained a half cent at 16½.

Financial Markets Observing Holidays

Canadian Press

New York, Dec. 24.—Domestic commodity exchanges observing a half-day holiday to-day are the New York coffee, sugar, lead, zinc, tin, copper and rubber.

All Canadian security exchanges and the Montreal silver market operated but a half session, closing at 12.30 p.m. E.S.T. to-day.

All domestic, Canadian and European markets will be closed Wednesday, Christmas Day.

With the exception of the Paris Bourse, all European markets and the Winnipeg Grain Exchange will remain closed Thursday, December 26.

LOSSES AND GAINS EVEN

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 24.—There was little business to enliven the short industrial share market to-day on the Toronto Exchange. Prices held steady to close with as many gains as losses.

Strong points were found in the food stocks. Lake of the Woods firmed 2 points, Laura Second 2 and Loblaw A added a fraction. Banks were slow but firm, and in the utilities Bell Telephone and Montreal Power weakened slightly, and Union Gas held to the up side.

Among the interlisted leaders, International Nickel, Distillers-Seagrams and the oils were the most active. Nickel closed around 44⅜ for the minimum gain, and the oils had losses of ¼ each for Imperial and International Petroleum, and British American was up ⅛. Brazilian, Ford A and C.P.R. held steady to strong.

BONDS STEADY AT NEW YORK

Associated Press

Italian issues steadied after a week of decline. Rome 6½s gained 1¼ and Public Service 7s rose 1.

Olga was almost crushed with disappointment. To have been thus close to safety and then have all hope snatched away by a cruel stroke of fate seemed unendurable! The man was disappointed, too, but more was he angry. He demanded to know where were their officers.

She repeated the white man's question in native dialect. Usanga grinned. "YOU know where they are, woman," he replied. "They are killed. And if this white man does not do as I tell him, he, too, will be dead. I want him to teach me to fly like a bird."

The Englishman meditated a moment, then said: "Ask him if he will give us our freedom if I teach him." Cunning and unprincipled, Usanga was always ready to promise anything. "Let the white man teach me to fly," he said, "and I will take you close to the settlements."

When Roger heard this he shrugged his shoulders and agreed. "There is no way out of it," he told Olga. "If I refuse the scoundrel, he will make short work of me. If I accept, it will be the means of assuring your safe return to civilization. That is worth more to me."

The Gumps

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—During the last year my husband has made it entirely plain that he does not love me. This has wounded my pride deeply and we have had terrible scenes which leave us both wrecks. I have sworn to myself that I will not give him a moment's freedom; that I will follow every move he makes; that I will not give him a divorce or any peace, even if it kills me, just so I can make him as unhappy as he has made me. Can you suggest any manner of revenge beside my present way? I feel he should be hurt some way for hurting me so much. TROUBLED.

Answer—Revenge is a boomerang. It returns to those who hurl it and annihilates them. When you seek to take revenge upon those who have injured you, you hurt yourself far more than you hurt them. It has been said that revenge is sweet. Never has there been a more false statement. Revenge is as bitter as gall, and it destroys all the flavor in life for those who saturate their thoughts with it. It is a poison that eats into the hearts and brains of people and warps them, and finally slays everything that is good in them.

How true this is you can see from your own experience. You must know that you have not had a minute's happiness or peace of mind or ease of conscience since you started out to avenge yourself on your husband for the wrong you consider that he has done you. If you will be honest with yourself, you will realize that you have not had a single cheerful thought or had a carefree moment since you set yourself to be avenged on him.

You have dwelt on his unfaithfulness until it has become an obsession with you. Many times your mind has gone over every detail of your misfortune until you have lost the ability to eat or sleep or find pleasure in anything. You can't even talk of anything else. And the end of it all will be, if you don't snap out of it, that you will become a nervous wreck, and a bore whom your friends will avoid because they are worn out with listening to your troubles.

So give up your melodramatic plan of revenging yourself on your husband for your own sake. Unless you have such a fiendish nature yourself that it would justify him increasing to love you, you cannot find any pleasure in making him as miserable as you are. You have to be built that way to get a kick out of torturing a person and seeing him writhe, and not many women are so cruel. You can, of course, refuse your husband a divorce and make him and the woman he loves eat out their hearts in loneliness and longing for each other, but I doubt if the knowledge that you have hurt them as much as they have hurt you will bring you the solace that you think it will.

I sympathize with you deeply in the loss of your husband's love. That is a hard thing for any wife to be called upon to endure, but it it not always, perhaps not often, the man's fault. Love comes and goes as it wills.

We have no control over it and we cannot force ourselves to love a person because it is our duty to do so. We do not know why we love nor why we cease to love. And so we should temper justice with mercy in dealing with those who have somehow, some way, lost their affection for us.

I think you will find far more happiness in just accepting the situation as it is instead of rebelling against it, and in forgiving your husband rather than seeking revenge upon him. In forgiveness you will find healing for the wound he has dealt you, but in trying to avenge yourself upon him you will prod at the old sore and keep it festering until it will poison your whole life.

DOROTHY DIX.

* * * * * *

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Should a person contemplating matrimony inform the intended wife or husband that there is insanity in her or his family before the marriage takes place, or should this be kept a secret until after the marriage? UNCERTAIN.

Answer—Every law of decency and honor demands that any man or woman who is marrying should tell the prospective wife or husband of anything that could affect the success of their marriage. This would not only include hereditary diseases but any disease the individual may have. I do not think that people who have hereditary diseases should marry at all, but if they do they have no right to have children.

DOROTHY DIX.

HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1935

Benefic aspects dominate in the horoscope for to-day, according to astrology. It is a day on which the eclipse of the sun brings many cheering signs to the seers

Jupiter in his own sign in the angle of the workers is read as presaging a great increase in employment and the abandonment of government aid. There may be trouble among labor unions in regard to wage adjustments.

While this configuration prevails there is a reassuring confidence for the future. It indicates a demand for the greatest possible effort toward fine achievement.

This is a day when women will be happiest in the background of the home whence they radiate love and kindliness. It is a time for selflessness on the part of mothers and daughters.

The aged should benefit under this rule of the stars. Many will be endowed with clear vision regarding the cosmic plan that now is puzzling to the average mind.

This evening is read as auspicious for family reunions which will provide merriment and real enjoyment. There will be less weariness than usual in holiday entertainments, for they are to be strictly domestic.

Progress through group co-operation is to mark the winter, even though many persons are antagonistic to this form of self-help. The stars forecast gain through individual effort that contributes to the general good.

From this date, events of great significance may be expected. There may be ups and downs, periods of discouragement following real advancement. The world is to emerge from the throes of change only with struggles and backsets.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of happiness. Business or professional interests may cause several journeys.

Children born on this day probably will be very fortunate all through life, it is said. Those born before sunrise or before noon will be especially lucky. They should be intellectual and individual.

Isaac Newton, mathematician, was born on this day, 1642. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Christmas Evans, Baptist missionary, 1766.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1935

Benefic aspects rule strongly to-day, according to astrology. Instead of mental depression after the holiday celebration, there is likely to be gaiety of spirit and real happiness.

Under this sway, persons in important positions—employers and others who occupy places in the sun—should be exceedingly helpful and sympathetic. It is a favorable sway under which to seek appointments or to sign contracts.

The "good will to man" sentiment probably will prevail with unusual results all through this week, which is an exceedingly fortunate one.

Since this is essentially a period in which the young will bear responsibility many will occupy important political offices. They must be faithful in all things.

Men at the head of large commercial enterprises are under a promising sign. This is an auspicious day to make plans for 1936, which is to be an outstanding year in history.

The seers foretell a general awakening to the spiritual significance of life and a breaking away from the materialistic standards that have prevailed in recent years.

Social and economic barriers separating various classes are to disappear even more in 1936 than formerly. Through the radio and motion pictures men and women will attain real democracy, the seers prophesy.

As the new year opens with Jupiter in power, there is reason to rejoice, the seers announce. War that might blot out the white race is to be averted, although a short conflict will eliminate a dictator.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of more than average success. Good fortune for both men and women is indicated.

Children born on this day probably will be ambitious and imaginative. Subjects of this sign usually receive aid in the fulfillment of their aims and many reach fame that is not hard-earned.

Dion Boucicault, actor and dramatist, was born on this day, 1822. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth, long a popular fiction writer, 1819, and Thomas Gray, English poet, 1716.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CHRISTMAS

By HOWARD R. GAIS

It was the day before Christmas. Even the snowflakes seemed to know this without being told, for they were dancing up and down most merrily, playing tag and hide and seek and falling on the pink noses of dozens of little animal boys and girls who were out playing.

"How much longer before Santa Claus will really get here?" asked Baby Bunty, the orphan rabbit, of Buster, one of Uncle Wiggily's boys.

"Oh, it won't be long now," said Buster. "Pretty soon it will be night and then we'll go to bed and when we wake it will be Christmas morning and we'll hear daddy blow the horn and——"

"Yes, and the bells will jingle," said his brother, Custer. He didn't stop to beg Buster's pardon for interrupting, as he should have done. But all the bunny children could think of was Christmas.

So away they hopped in the snow, trying to guess what sort of presents Santa Claus would leave for them on the Christmas tree or in their stockings hung on the mantel.

REMEMBER THE POOR

Uncle Wiggily, his wife and Nurse Jane were so busy inside the hollow stump bungalow as the children were busy outside. There were many things to do for Christmas. The bungalow was decorated with holly and mistletoe and bright leaves from the woods. Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jane had to make sure there would be enough good things to eat so none of the bunny children would be hungry. Besides this the animal ladies had packed many baskets of food for poor families that had none of their own. Uncle Wiggily took these baskets around.

"There!" exclaimed the old rabbit gentleman, as he came back after having left the last basket. "That's done. Everybody will have a Merry Christmas. Now I guess I can go look for an adventure."

"Not yet," laughed his wife. "You must, you know," and she pointed her pink nose toward the garage.

"Oh, yes. The tree," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I must set the tree up so it will be lighted and trimmed in time for Christmas. The tree?"

"Hush! Not so loud!" begged Nurse Jane. "Some of the children might hear you and we want to surprise them."

"They're laughing and shouting so in the snow they won't hear me," said Uncle Wiggily. "Don't worry."

He hopped out and when none of the children saw him he pulled the tree in the back door and set it up in the parlor.

JINGLE BELLS

Supper time came, then bedtime. The little rabbits hopped up stairs, and snuggled down beneath the covers. Some time after this Uncle Wiggily, his wife and Nurse Jane crept up to their beds, walking on their tin toes. Softly the snow fell. The moon made the flakes sparkle like diamonds. And then, in the middle of the night, there was a tinkle of bells and strange noises sounded on the roof of Uncle Wiggily's bungalow.

Then all was quiet. But before the sun had time to get up and shine on the earth, a horn sounded in the bungalow. In a second all the bunny boys and girls were wide awake.

"Merry Christmas!" they shouted.

"Merry Christmas!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Santa Claus has come!"

And down stairs to look at their presents hopped the rabbit children. They gathered beneath the bright and shining tree. They looked into their horse-shoe stockings. Again they cried: "Merry Christmas!"

And so to all of you Uncle Wiggily and I echo the glad cry of:

"MERRY CHRISTMAS"

ALASKA LIGHT KEEPER LOST

Last Seen Alive in Stormy Waters in Small Motorboat With Motor Dead

Ketchikan, Alaska, Dec. 24.—The coast guard cutter Cyane searched off Port McArthur yesterday for Ernest Evanson, one of the Cape Decision lighthouse keepers, last seen adrift in a small motor boat Monday morning with the motor dead.

The weather was cold, with a northwest wind blowing. Evanson formerly of Seattle and in the service a short time, left the lighthouse for Cape McArthur for supplies. When last seen through glasses, his boat was still drifting about six miles out, fellow keepers radioed here.

Two small boats have been lost in southeastern Alaska waters the last several days, with possible loss of life.

The Eal 135, a small fishing boat was wrecked on the shores of Kendrick Bay, on Prince of Wales Island, and trappers searched the shores today for her crew. The coast guard cutter Alert attempted to salvage the craft.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.

CHINESE PIRATES PILLAGE VESSEL

Hongkong, Dec. 24.—A small ship operating out of the port of Changchow was boarded by Chinese pirates to-day. A Chest containing $10,000 Chinese currency and two Chinese hostages were taken from the vessel.

Empress of Russia and the Niagara Will Be Steaming Towards Victoria From Distant Ports; Heavy Coast Travel Is Expected

Christmas Day at sea is always a joyous occasion and hundreds of people annually choose a ship on which to spend the great occasion. This year is no exception to that rule and thousands of people will be on liners, large and small, to-morrow.

To-night several hundred people will embark at New York on a score of ships for brief Christmas cruises to southern waters. Passengers crossing the Atlantic on the regular ships will duly celebrate.

Ships of the British Columbia Coast service have been gaily decorated for the festive season. The Ss. Princess Alice and the Ss. Princess Charlotte, on the triangle run, will offer special Christmas menus to their passengers.

The Princess Norah, on the Alaska service, is in Vancouver for the holiday. The Princess Maquinna will have Christmas Day at some small port on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

DUE FROM ORIENT

Two ships will reach northwest ports from the Orient in time for their passengers to get ashore for Christmas Day. These ships are the President Jackson, which arrived here this afternoon, and the Ms. Hikawa Maru, which will reach Vancouver to-morrow morning about 9 o'clock.

Several well-known Pacific liners will be at sea over Christmas. The President Jefferson, which left here last Saturday will be nearing the 180th meridian. The Empress of Asia will be approaching the coast of Japan. The Empress of Russia will be crossing from Yokohama to Victoria, being due here next Monday. The Niagara will be on the Pacific en route from Honolulu to Victoria.

Heavy local travel is expected over the holiday. A large number of Victorians will go to Seattle this afternoon on the Princess Alice and a still larger group will leave to-night at midnight on the Ss. Princess Elizabeth for Vancouver. Several hundred people are also expected to come to Victoria from neighboring northwest cities.

WILL LOAD MUCH GRAIN

Vancouver, Dec. 24. — During the week ending Friday a total of 82,700 tons of grain space was fixed for dispatch from Vancouver, according to a report by Montreal Shipping Company (Pacific) Limited. Twenty-two ships booked space, six of them for full cargoes, with the largest a 10,000-ton parcel booked for an unnamed steamer for February loading. All but 5,000 tons is for United Kingdom discharge. Rates ranged from 20s 3d to 21s 9d.

Rear-admiral Hill Passes in England

Weymouth, Eng., Dec. 24.—Rear Admiral Peter W. E. Hill, sixty-two, retired, one of the umpires in the Wimbledon championship tennis matches for the last twelve years, died yesterday evening. He suppressed gun running in the Persian Gulf from 1911 to 1914.

Forecast

Victoria and vicinity for 36 hours ending 5 p.m. Wednesday: Increasing north and east winds; unsettled with rain or sleet.

SHIPWRECKED CREW IS RESCUED

A few minutes after this picture was taken, the leaking schooner Hallie K. plunged into the ocean off Jupiter, Florida, but the captain and crew of three had been removed by the lifeboat of the Ss. Siboney, shown rowing them to shore. Before being rescued, Capt. Malone reported, another ship passed within 200 feet without fulfilling its maritime obligation to aid them.

Quiet Christmas Is Forecast At Docks

President Jackson, in Port This Afternoon, Will Be Last Deepsea to Arrive Before Holiday; Busy Week-end in the Offing, However

There is every indication that those whose daily duties take them along the waterfront will have a real holiday to-morrow with members of their families. Unless something unforseen turns up there will be no visits for them to the docks to-morrow. Only the regular coast boats will come into Victoria.

The American Mail liner President Jackson, Capt. Morris Seavey arrived at Victoria late this afternoon from the Orient. She was posted to remain here two hours before proceeding to Seattle. She had cargo, mails and passengers for this port.

It was expected this morning local longshore difficulties would be successfully ironed out and that the 250 tons of freight on the President Jackson for Victoria would be discharged.

Doctors, customs and immigration men at the William Head quarantine station will probably meet Santa Claus on his way home to-morrow morning, for they will have to be up around 2 o'clock to pass the Japanese motorship Hikawa Maru, which is due there at that time on her way to Vancouver from Japan.

The freighter Troupool got away yesterday afternoon and King Brothers said this morning they did not think the Hopecrest would arrive until the day after Christmas.

The Ss. Kingsley conveniently will pass up Victoria to-morrow and proceed direct to Vancouver.

Thus, unless something unexpected comes into port the Outer Docks of Victoria will be unusually quiet. It will be the first time in years that at least one deep-sea ship has failed to berth here on Christmas Day.

The coming week-end, however, will be a busy one at the Outer Docks. On Saturday the Empress of Canada will be here on her way to Honolulu and the Orient. Sunday or Monday the Ss. Niagara will arrive from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu and on Monday morning the Empress of Russia will arrive from the Orient.

Yesterday evening at 8 o'clock the Niagara was 2,345 miles from Victoria and the Empress of Russia 2,800 miles.

Great Typhoon Sweeps Islands

Associated Press

Manila, Dec. 24. — A destructive typhoon swept across islands to the south of Manila to-day. Communication with southern Luzon, Marinduque, Tayabas, Cavite, Laguan and Batanagas Provinces were interrupted.

No casualties were reported, but officials believed property loss would be enormous. The town hall at Pandan, province of Catanduanes, was destroyed.

CANOE VOYAGE IN DENSE FOG

W. H. Lambert of Vancouver Paddles to Victoria Again in Tenebris

W. H. Lambert, Vancouver school teacher, who makes a hobby of traveling back and forth across the Gulf by canoe in his holidays, came to Victoria again yesterday and reported his thirteenth crossing from Vancouver was made for three-quarters of the way in dense fog.

He paddled his way into the Inner Harbor late yesterday afternoon, just as darkness was closing down, and because he had an engagement in Vancouver this afternoon he took the Ss. Princess Joan at midnight to return to the mainland city.

Mr. Lambert in Tenebris left Caulfield, near Vancouver, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and headed for Active Pass. He took the steamer passage and the fog was so dense he could see only about two canoe lengths. He steered Tenebris by compass and reached Active Pass at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. He stopped that night at Heriot's Silver Beach Camp, which is on the Galiano side.

It was still foggy when Lambert left Galiano Island at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He kept on the steamer track and tied up at the float on James Island at 8.15 o'clock. He left there at 11 o'clock and yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock he reached Ten Mile Point, visiting there for a few hours with William Foster before paddling around to Victoria.

MORE SHIPS ARE TIED UP

Twenty-four Freighters Will Remain Idle at Coast Ports Another Two Days at Least

Associated Press

San Francisco, Dec. 24.—Postponement of peace efforts until after Christmas assured tie-up of twenty-four Pacific Coast freighters at least another forty-eight hours to-day.

Hearings of two labor relations boards were adjourned until December 26.

Nineteen of the vessels, coastwise steam schooners, lost their crews last week in disputes over length of the work day and overtime pay. The Eureka in San Pedro and the Horace X. Baxter in Alameda were idle because operators refused to grant Winch Drivers' demands for a pay increase.

In San Francisco, the Maui and the Diamond Head remained wharf-bound on Seamen's refusal to perform tasks they insist should be done by ship scalers.

The steam schooner Glymont, tied up in Tacoma, was added to the list of ships idle because of the overtime pay dispute.

Ship Scalers Are Acquitted

San Francisco, Dec. 24.—Four ship scalers, in protest against whose murder trial 7,000 waterfront workers struck for one-half hour last Friday, were acquitted yesterday.

The jury deliberated seven minutes.

Francisco Jiminez, Julio Canales, Archie Brown and Natilio Valli were accused of slaying Vincent Torres, a fellow ship scaler, in a free-for-all knife fight during a meeting last September.

Has Praise For German Aviation

New York, Dec. 24.—Col. Edward V. Rickenbacker, Great War flying ace and now general manager of Eastern Air Lines, returned from Europe yesterday with praise for German aviation.

"Germany is the outstanding European nations in military aviation," he said. "I think she appreciates, more than any other country, the value of the airplane in war."

Province to Have Trade Department

prejudice the position of British Columbia.

"During the whole time that I was absent with my colleagues in ardent endeavor to improve the status of British Columbia, as well as benefit the other provinces and Canada as a whole, a constant barrage of misrepresentation and ridicule was kept up. In trying to stab me and my government in the back, what really happened was that the people of British Columbia were being stabbed in the back," he declared.

Most important matter coming before the conference was the constitutional issue, said the premier. Contrary to the expectation of many people, agreement was reached and a committee of federal and provincial governments set up to consider procedure for amending the B.N.A. Act.

The Minister of Justice had advised him, he said, that this committee would be called together at an early date.

Paying tribute to the Fathers of Confederation for the manner in which they had solved the problem in the first place, the premier added:

CONSTITUTION NEEDS REVISING

"With the passage of time conditions have changed and there has been a constant tendency toward centralization of authority, as a consequence of which disputes have arisen from time to time between the Dominion and the provinces as to the authority of each under the present constitution, and numerous cases have been in dispute in the courts. In the light of the knowledge and experience which we now have it is essential that the points at issue be clarified. The fact that there are a number of measures which were enacted by the Dominion Parliament which are now before the Supreme Court on reference is concrete evidence of the necessity of revision of the constitution. But other amendments are necessary, particularly of a financial character, and the machinery has been started which will make possible desirable changes with a minimum of delay."

Relative to the relief problem, Premier Pattullo again made it clear he believes that public works are essential to provide employment until trade and private business can absorb those now drawing relief.

Mentioning the decision, arising out of the conference, to give larger Dominion relief grants to the provinces during the next four months, the premier did not indicate what proportion of these would be passed on to the cities by the province.

POSITION ON REFUNDING

While British Columbia had been the first province to advocate refunding, it would not agree to any scheme in which it had to surrender control over provincial activities.

"We must preserve our provincial autonomy. Any other course would not only lead to friction but, I feel sure, would greatly retard desirable governmental activities in this province," he declared.

"I look upon British Columbia as one of the most important sections of Canada and your government does not propose that this province shall be placed in a position where it will be handicapped by a control which might be very prejudicial to our interests. What I have always had in mind is that there should be a reconsideration and re-division of sources of revenue as between the Dominion and the provinces whereby we may be on a self-sustaining basis without our own autonomy rather than be dependent upon special aid or so-called favors from the Dominion Government.

The conference committee on finances would meet some time in January, he said.

AID POULTRYMEN

Reviewing the work of the marketing and agricultural committee, the Premier announced that the B.C. delegation had been successful in having passed a recommendation which will remove the prohibitive restrictions on B.C. poultrymen forcing them to have commercial stocks blood tested.

The importance of tourist traffic had been squarely recognized by the conference, he said, and especially the need for good roads. To this end the Dominion had agreed to contribute 50 per cent of the cost of Transcanada Highway links, as well as to other highways which were considered to the general advantage of the Dominion as a whole.

Traffic regulations were also discussed, but nearly all the recommendations made were already in effect in British Columbia.

PARK DEVELOPMENT

British Columbia could have a big place in park development, which was also stressed. In the north, Mount Robson Park should be connected with Jasper Park. In the southern interior, Vancouver Island and in the areas tributary to Vancouver there was opportunity for providing attractions to thousands.

The premier stated British Columbia would continue to press its case for better terms and for transfer of the P.G.E. Railway to the Canadian National system.

CITY HALL BIDS IN VANCOUVER

Two Tenders Received By Council Referred to Officials For Study

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 24.—Two bids, the only ones received and both more than $75,000 in excess of funds available, were received by the city council yesterday for building the proposed city hall on the Strathcona Park site and referred to the city architect, engineer, building inspector and solicitor for tabulation and report.

Carter, Halls, Aldinger Company submitted a bid of $875,000 cash or $685,000 cash and $200,000 in baby bonds.

The other bid was submitted by Smith Brothers & Wilson for $884,615 cash or $764,675 cash and $200,000 in baby bonds.

Police Hold Man After Long Hunt

J. Marcotte in Jail in Ottawa; A. Mondoux Slain in Hull, Que., in 1932

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—Police said today Joseph Marcotte, forty-six, held here on a theft charge, had been identified as the seventh man wanted by Quebec officers in connection with the murder November 9, 1932, of Alex Mondoux in Hull.

Marcotte, lodged in a cell at police station here, was identified by Detective Ovila Lusignan of Hull, Detective Auguste Giyon of the Quebec police and Detective Ibald Sauve of the Ottawa force.

Five members of the gang alleged to have killed Mondoux, beaten to death in a hobo jungle on the outskirts of Hull, were tried in Hull for murder and a sixth died at Quebec police headquarters at Montreal.

The man, who gave his name as Alcide Marcotte of no fixed address, was said to have admitted to-day he was Joseph Marcotte. He was identified through a police circular and through the fact his right index finger is missing.

Of the five men tried in Hull, four were acquitted for lack of evidence and the sixth, Lawrence Kelly, was sentenced to five years in penitentiary for manslaughter.

OPPONENT FOR GARDINER

Canadian Press

Carlyle, Sask., Dec. 24.—One minute before nominations closed yesterday, William Irvine, former Alberta M.P., was nominated to contest the Assiniboia by-election on January 6 against Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Federal Minister of Agriculture.

Mr. Irvine, who as U.F.A. member of Parliament represented Wetaskiwin for a number of years, is running as an independent. He was defeated in the general election when he ran as a C.C.F. nominee.

The constituency was made vacant to give Mr. Gardiner, former Saskatchewan Premier, a seat in Parliament.

Jordan River

The annual Christmas concert given by the Jordan River school children was held in the B.C.E.R. Company's social hall here last Thursday evening. The programme, arranged by Miss M. Hodgson, included recitations, songs, carols, drills, readings and a one-act play, entitled "Who Gave the Christmas Party?" At the close of the programme, Santa Claus arrived and gifts and sacks of candy, fruit and nuts were presented to each child. Ice cream, fruit and candies were distributed and the balance of the evening was spent in games.
